TURKEY TO CONTINUE WAR TO BITTER END

DISPATCHES FROM CONSTANTINOPLE SAY TURKS WILL FIGHT TO SAFEGUARD ISLAM.

BULGARIANS HOPEFUL

Correspondent With Bulgarian Army Says Negotiations Have Already Been Entered Into For Surrender of Constantinople.

Constantinople, Nov. 8.—There is every indication here now that the war against the Balkan allies will be continued to the bitter end, as advised by Nazim Pasha, the Turkish commander in chief.

Officers of the army joined with the Turkish press in applauding the determination of the command-in-chief to continue the fight and it is stated that the population of the Turkish empire is ready to assist by every means in its power. At the same time many Moslems are said to have sworn to sacrifice their lives to safeguard the glory of Islam.

The Yeni Gazette says today: "If Enorpe wishes to tear up treaties it may do so but will not allow the Koran and the history of Osman to be torn up. All the Turkish ministers with the guard vizier, aged 84, at their head, as well as our high dignitaries, our soldiers and the whole nation, have sworn to shed their blood in that cause. Those who entertain the idea of abandoning the fatherland will incur the malediction of the Almighty prophet."

Expect Surrender. Vienna, Austria, Nov. 8.—Informal negotiations for the surrender of Constantinople have been already entered upon according to the correspondent of the Reichspost with the Bulgarian army. He adds the Bulgarians hope the fall of the Turkish line of forts at Tchatalja will be simultaneous with the taking of the fortress of Adrianople.

Diplomats Worried. Paris, Nov. 8.—The threatened rupture between Austria-Hungary and Serbia on the question of Serbian access to the Adriatic sea and the immensity of numerous other political quicksands caused by the collapse of Turkey, are causing grave concern in diplomatic circles in Paris.

Demands Saloniki Give Up. Athens, Nov. 8.—Crown Prince Constantine of Greece has called upon the Turkish stronghold of Saloniki to surrender. The army under his command has crossed the Vardar river and now is before Saloniki. The Turkish garrison which has made preparations to resist attacks, but it is believed there will not be any serious opposition and that the Greek army probably will enter the fortress today.

U. S. Warships to Turkey. Washington, Nov. 8.—Two big American armored cruisers, the Tennessee and the Montana have been given rush orders to proceed to Turkish water to look after the interests of American citizens. The vessels now are in reserve at the Philadelphia navy yard, the Tennessee being the flagship of Rear Admiral Austin M. Knight. They should be ready to sail within 24 hours and under ordinary conditions should reach Constantinople about Nov. 25.

Will Not Intervene. Berlin, Nov. 8.—Germany, Austria-Hungary and Italy will not intervene in the Balkan situation so long as their special interests are not affected and unless they are requested to do so by the belligerent nations.

Sofia, Nov. 8.—The Bulgarian cabinet maintains the absolute necessity of any peace negotiations with Turkey being conducted directly with the Balkan nations in order to insure the future position of the various states involved and to prevent the danger of further conflict after the war has ceased.

The government organ, "The Mir," expresses surprise that Turkey recognizes her defeat, but yet ignores the victors and continues to seek salvation from the powers. The newspaper remarks that such mediation in the past has proved costly for Turkey territorially and if persisted in now may cause her Asiatic empire to become a second Egypt.

Fugitives Desperate. Constantinople, Nov. 8.—Fugitive Turkish soldiers are reported to have massacred many people of the village of Silivri on the coast west of the sea of Marmora and south of the Tchatalja forts. The fleeing soldiers who were half starved and utterly demoralized are said to have set fire to all the houses in the village, a disease resembling cholera has broken out among the wounded Turkish soldiers arriving in Constantinople.

Seek Peace. Cologne, Germany, Nov. 8.—It is reported in Sofia, Bulgaria, in a dispatch to the Cologne Gazette that the porte has purposed to Bulgaria to begin peace negotiations without the mediation of the powers.

Russia Waiting. St. Petersburg, Nov. 8.—The Russian government has decided to retain all the time expired soldiers of the Russian army in active service until next spring. This places the Russian army practically on a war footing as the order affects several hundred thousand men whose places in the ordinary course have been taken by the same number of recruits who have just been called up.

It is announced the government has taken this step as the best means of preventing war and it is thought that this can only mean the government foresees the possibility of complications arising out of the Balkan situation. The detention of the time expired men will entail a cost of many millions.

Two Senators. Chicago, Nov. 8.—Sufficient democratic strength in the Illinois legislature to enable that party to elect two senators appeared as a possibility today with the increase of democratic votes in the southern part of the state. The democratic state headquarters were hopeful that the new returns would give them possibly 77 members in the state house of representatives and 27 in the state senate, a total of 14 on joint ballot. A majority of a joint ballot is 103.

Still Doubtful. San Francisco, Nov. 8.—With 135 precincts missing and Roosevelt leading Wilson on the face of the returns by only 130, California still was in doubtful column today.

London, Eng., Nov. 8.—Bulgaria has no intention of remaining in Constantinople according to an official at the Bulgarian legation here. The Bulgarian troops will, however, go to the Turkish capital the official declares.

Complete Victory. Iyena, Nov. 8.—The correspondents state that the Turkish troops have been repulsed from the principal points of the Tchatalja line, the fall of which is expected immediately.

Are to Fight. Rome, Nov. 8.—The representatives of Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy during their conference in Berlin decided to propose to Great Britain, France and Russia the formula of "Albania for the Albanians" as a solution of the Balkan situation, according to information received here.

Both Austria-Hungary and Italy are represented as having agreed not to make any territorial claims for themselves and to bar Serbia from reaching the sea through Albania.

TAKT'S CABINET MET IN FIRST SESSION SINCE VACATIONS

Many Subjects Discussed at Meeting At White House Today—No Sorrow Over Election Results Shown.

Washington, Nov. 8.—President Taft met his cabinet in regular session today for the first time since August when he started for Beverly on his vacation. With the exception of the Secretary of State Mr. Knox and the Secretary of the Navy Mr. Meyer, every member was in his seat.

Stenographers do not report cabinet meetings, but the laughter which penetrated the walls and was heard in the corridor of the executive office indicated that Tuesday's defeat had not brought gloom to Mr. Taft's official family.

Subjects considered at today's meeting were many. From the election to the filling of many vacancies the discussion covered much ground.

The messages which Mr. Taft expects to write within the next few weeks were taken up and ideas for them presented by members of the cabinet. It was understood in Washington today that at present no cabinet members intended to quit office until March 4.

Several members let it be known months ago that they expected to retire March 4th even if Mr. Taft were re-elected and several were known to be anxious to get back to private life before that date.

The feeling of loyalty to the president, however, is expected to keep every cabinet officer at the head of his department until the administration itself out of power.

PRINCETON ACQUIRES HISTORIC INTEREST

Election of Woodrow Wilson as President Recalls Places and Events of His College Days.

Princeton, Nov. 8.—With the election of Woodrow Wilson as the 28th president of the United States a great many things in Princeton have assumed an historical value. Chief among these is the room occupied by Woodrow Wilson, Princeton, 1879.

Valokouton Ellicott, the Princeton Sophomore who now occupies room No. 7 in Witherspoon Hall did not know when he got it that it was historic. When he put a black coat of paint on the mantel and put up his various carvings of initials and records of athletic victories he fears that he covered up the initials of "T. W. W. 79," for it was "Tommy" W. Wilson that the President-elect was known in his college days.

It is said he later dropped the first name so as to have a name of 13 letters because he believes 13 a lucky number. College flags and the decorations of another age adorn the walls but above the study desk is a campaign drawing of Woodrow Wilson with his signature on it.

"I suppose Woodrow Wilson never dreamed," said Ellicott today as he showed his room to a number of visitors, "that above the spot he studied there would hang some day a picture of himself, the president of the United States." Ellicott's mother is an intimate friend of Mrs. Wilson and was president of the Women's Wilson and Marshall club of Baltimore.

Steele, N. D., Nov. 8.—George Baker in the Kildar county jail charged with the murder of his wife and father-in-law, Thomas Glass was taken from the jail early today and lynched by a mob. It is the first lynching in North Dakota within a decade.

NORTH DAKOTA MOB LYNCHES PRISONER

First Lynching in State in Decade Occurred Today When Alleged Murderer Was Lynched.

Steele, N. D., Nov. 8.—George Baker in the Kildar county jail charged with the murder of his wife and father-in-law, Thomas Glass was taken from the jail early today and lynched by a mob. It is the first lynching in North Dakota within a decade.

LIBERIAN UPRISING SUBSIDES QUICKLY

Ordering of German Warship to Coast of Liberia Tends to Quiet Uprising.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The uprising in Liberia which caused orders to the German warship Panther to proceed immediately to that country, has subsided as quickly as possible.

PITCHER, "RUBE" MARQUARD ARRESTED IN ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, Nov. 8.—On an affidavit sworn to by Joseph Kane of New York and two detectives, police magistrate Jaguetty of this city, today issued a warrant for the apprehension of "Rube" Marquard, pitcher of the New York national league baseball team. Mr. Kane and his affidavits charges that he and the two detectives found Marquard and Mr. Kane's wife in a hotel here early today. Mrs. Kane is an actress, her stage name being Blossom Seeley. The pair have been appearing in vaudeville sketches.

CORNER STONE IS LAID FOR NEW MASONIC TEMPLE.

Owensboro, Ky., Nov. 8.—The laying of the corner stone today for the new Masonic Temple in this city was made the occasion for a large and notable gathering of high degree Masons from many parts of Kentucky. The exercises were conducted under the auspices of the grand lodge of the order.

STRANGE CONDITIONS SHOWN BY FIGURES ON TUESDAY'S VOTE

Total Vote in State Shows Decided Decrease—Hundred Thousand Stayed at Home.

The vote in Wisconsin for president this fall was the highest that has been cast in a presidential year since 1888, and the lightest cast at any general election since 1898. As compared with the vote of 1908 the returns on the presidential vote cast last Tuesday shows that over 100,000 voters remained away from the polls.

Taking the combined vote for Taft and Roosevelt, for the purposes of comparison with the vote cast in 1908, the republicans lost in round numbers, $5,000 votes, while the democrats lost 25,000. The real falling off in the democratic vote was greater than shown on the face of the tables, as many republicans from all portions of the state unquestionably voted for Wilson.

Forecast Borne Out. The results verify predictions by close observers during the campaign to the effect that the vote would be the lightest cast for president in many years. It was held that voters were so disgusted by contentions within party ranks, both republican and democrat, that they would not go to the polls.

This great falling off in the republican vote is the cause for Wilson carrying Wisconsin. Had even one half of the stay at home gone to the polls Taft would have carried the state handily in spite of the efforts of the Bull Mooseers. The vote of that party was a severe disappointment to its leaders. Before election they were claiming that Roosevelt would have 125,000 votes in the state, basing their predictions, it was said at the time, on a close poll which had been made of the state. Many of the leaders really expected that the Bull Moose would get close to 100,000 votes. New, the only comfort they have is, as one expressed it, "We pulled McGovern through."

Again comparing the Taft and Roosevelt vote, the republicans cast less votes for presidential candidate than the party voters cast for Gov. McGovern in 1910. Before Bull Moose tactics split the party into two factions.

Democratic Vote Short. On the other hand, the democratic vote for Wilson was 20,000 less than received by John A. Ayward in 1908, when he ran for governor, though it is about 35,000 more than that received by A. J. Schmitz, democratic candidate for governor in 1910.

The returns show that Roosevelt split the party seriously in almost every county in the state. He carried Douglas county by a good majority over both Taft and Wilson. He also had a small plurality in Pierce. Taft received a good vote in Dane and Rock counties. He received pluralities in twenty-three counties, on the returns received, and Wilson received pluralities in thirty-seven counties. It is noticeable that the strong republican counties in the northwest part of the state, with the exception of Pierce, gave President Taft substantial pluralities in spite of the inroads which the Bull Moose made on the republican vote.

CALL MILL WORKER IN ETOR'S TRIAL

Italian Witness in Lawrence Murder Case Testifies For Countryman in Trial Today.

Salem, Mass., Nov. 8.—Sabato Guage a mill worker, the first witness today in the Etor trial, testified that he heard Etor and Giovannitti make public speeches several times during the strike always urging the people to stand firmly together, keep away from the mills and not use violence.

PRESENT OFFICERS TO BE CONTINUED

Madison, Nov. 8.—Although the incoming state officers have little to say as to the appointments of their assistants it is known that McGovern will make no changes in the executive office and that Duncan McGregor will continue as private secretary and Harry C. Wilbur as executive clerk. According to present arrangements L. B. Nagler will be continued as assistant secretary of state by secretary of state elect John S. Donald. Temporarily it is understood Henry Johnson will appoint State Treasurer Dahl as assistant.

It is now certain that Russell Jackson will be retained as deputy attorney general. There seems to be a sentiment that Walter Drew of this city, campaign manager for Walter C. Owen, attorney general elect, will be appointed and that the next legislature will be asked to create another position in the attorney general's office to look after the increasing inheritance tax business. Russell Jackson has been slated for this position.

WIRELESS MESSAGES SENT ACROSS UNITED STATES

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 8.—Messages were exchanged last night by the navy wireless station on Point Loma and the big navy station at Arlington, Va., approximately 2,500 miles across country. The signals were unusually distinct say the local operators.

Library Board Meets: The Library Board met for its regular monthly meeting at Library hall at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon. Several different business matters were brought up for consideration.

M'GOVERN'S MARGIN HAS BIG INCREASE IS SCOTT'S CLAIM

Governor's Victory Over Karel Is Estimated at 6,500 Today With Two Counties Lacking.

Milwaukee, Nov. 8.—With two counties, Burnett and Sawyer, still to be heard from, state chairman, George E. Scott of the republican committee fixes the lead of Gov. McGovern, republican for governor of Wisconsin over Karel, democrat, at about 6,500 votes. The balance of the republican state ticket Chairman Scott figures will top McGovern's vote by from 5,000 to 8,000 votes.

Dane County. Madison, Nov. 8.—Complete returns, Dane county, give McGovern 8,448, Karel 7,022. McGovern's plurality 1,416. Wilson gets 8,627, Taft 1,592, Roosevelt 1,628. Woman's suffrage was defeated by 2,754, in a total of 15,038.

ILLINOIS TO WILSON BY AN EASY MARGIN; LEADS CALIFORNIA

Democratic Candidate's Majority in Sucker State Estimated at 16,800.—California Returns.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—With seventeen precincts in Illinois to hear from Gov. Wilson's plurality is 16,838. Progressives will hold the balance of power in the new Illinois legislature. Complete returns received today show that the democrat will lack 5 of a majority on joint ballot.

Wilson Takes Lead. San Francisco, Nov. 8.—Wilson took the lead again with a plurality in California of 75 over Roosevelt with the filing of complete returns from Los Angeles county.

CALLAHAN ELECTED TO HEAD TEACHERS

Menasha Man Was Only Nominee Considered by State Teachers' Association Today.

Milwaukee, Nov. 8.—John Callahan of Menasha, was announced the new president of the Wisconsin Teachers' Association today at the convention in the auditorium. He received 400 votes. Mr. Callahan was the only nominee really considered. One of two others received a few votes apiece. Th. Ballouing was unusually light. The election committee announced the selection of the following vice presidents: First President Samuel Plantz, Lawrence College, Appleton; Second, H. A. Scofield, principal Blaine High School, Superior and third, Miss Helen Martin, County Training School, Elkhorn. Judge George F. Loomis of Waukesha, was chosen treasurer. Three vacancies in the executive committee were filled by re-electing the present committee-men.

DEATHS EXCEEDED BIRTHS FOR MONTH OF OCTOBER

Records of City Health Officer Show Eighteen Deaths and Seventeen Births Last Month.

Deaths exceeded births by one in the month of October in Janesville according to records of City Health Officer Dr. M. A. Cunningham; there were eighteen deaths and seventeen births. This proportion is unusual for this city, the number of births in the few months previous being nearly double the number of deaths. The actual figures may be slightly different for the reason that some of the births are reported too late to be entered in the month in which they took place. There were fourteen accidents and eighteen marriages in the month of October.

LABOR TEMPLE DEDICATED AT SAN JOSE, CALIFORNIA.

San Jose, Cal., Nov. 8.—Representatives of organized labor throughout California were present today at the dedication of the new labor temple, which is to serve as headquarters of the labor organizations of San Jose. P. H. McCarthy, president of the State Building Trades Council, was the principal speaker at the exercises.

Committees Meet.—Committee No. 1 on tax certificate and illegal taxes composed of H. B. Moseley, town of Beloit, K. K. Newhouse, town of Clinton, and H. T. Harper, Plymouth at the county treasurer's office today. Committee No. 3 on applications for relief of blind and insane composed of Fred Rehfeld, Rock, Thos. A. Steele, Union, and R. W. Wilford, Beloit also held a meeting.

Milwaukee Visitors: About one hundred from this city are in Milwaukee attending the convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' association. The orchestra from the State School for the Blind went to Milwaukee last night and played before the convention today. They will return to this city this evening.

TRIAL OF QUARTET IN ROSENTHAL CASE

Two Hundred Talesmen Ready for Trial of "Dago Frank," "Gib the Blood," "Lefty Louis," and "Whitey" Lewis.

New York, Nov. 8.—Two hundred talesmen reported at the criminal courts building today for the trial of "Whitey" Lewis, "Lefty" Louis, "Gib the Blood" and "Dago Frank," indicted for murdering Hermann Rosenthal at Charles Becker's bidding. Until last night counsel for the four men had insisted on a separate trial for each, but an eleventh hour decision resulted in the agreement to try them together. It is expected that all four will take the stand in their own behalf.

When the talesmen reported they were excused until two this afternoon at which time it was thought another murder case which is being tried would be in the jury's hands.

PROPOSE A MERGER OF FARMERS' CLUBS

Union of All Agricultural Associations Considered at Meeting at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Nov. 8.—Delegates to the thirty-second convention of the Farmers' National Congress which met here today discussed this morning a proposal for the merger of all agricultural associations under the name of the United States Country Life Association. Several cities want the convention for next year. A big delegation from Minnesota is here in the interests of St. Paul.

WISCONSIN MAN AT DYNAMITERS' TRIAL

Thomas Burke, Milwaukee Engineer, Tells of Explosions at Green Bay.

Indianapolis, Nov. 8.—Two dynamite explosions in Wisconsin were described by Thomas Burke, Milwaukee, a hoisting engineer, at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today. As a non-union worker Burke testified he was working at Green Bay, Wis., and on Nov. 31, '09 some one appeared on the job during the night and destroyed the property by dynamite. Burke also said he was in Milwaukee May 26, 1911, when an explosion caused $50,000 loss and damaged a steamer near the docks. The government read a report written by Herbert S. Hookin to John N. McNamara in which Hookin said he had talked to William E. Reddin, an iron worker's union official at Milwaukee concerning conditions in Wisconsin. The report as read cautioned McNamara to keep the information secret from every one except Frank M. Ryan, president of the union. More letters were introduced by the government to sustain its charges that explosions over the country "grew out of a reign of violence" in a fight against employers of non-union labor.

MISS INEZ MILHOLLAND TO ADDRESS SUFFRAGISTS.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Miss Inez Milholland, the militant suffragist of New York, is billed as the principal speaker at the annual convention of the New Jersey Suffrage Association, which began its sessions in the assembly chamber of the Statehouse here today. The convention will conclude with the election of officers tomorrow.

Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of Dunellen, is slated to succeed Miss Clara Laddy as president of the association.

WEST VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT PUSHED HARD FOR GOVERNOR.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Failure to secure figures on the result of the voting in McDowell county, the home of Dr. H. D. Hatfield, republican candidate for governor, brought out the prediction from democratic leaders here that Thompson, democrat had been elected.

PIONEER IN DULUTH MINE REGION DIES.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 8.—Capt. Antoine Leduc one of the oldest pioneers at the head of the lakes died here yesterday after an operation. He helped to develop the Calumet and Hecla and several other mines located in the iron lands.

SOUTH DAKOTA NAMES A REPUBLICAN GOVERNOR.

Sioux City, S. D., Nov. 8.—The election of Byrne, republican, for governor by 2,000 plurality is conceded by the democratic state chairman. Roosevelt's plurality in the state is about 5,000.

DAVIES CONFERS WITH THE PRESIDENT-ELECT

WESTERN MANAGER TELLS HOW DOUBTFUL STATES WENT FOR DEMOCRATS.

ILLINOIS DEMOCRATIC

Democrats Confident They Will Have Enough Strength in Legislature to Send Two Senators to Washington.

Princeton, Nov. 8.—Joseph E. Davies, Governor Wilson's western campaign manager called on the president-elect today and told him the details of how Illinois and some of the other doubtful western states went democratic. The governor's attention was called to statements of Oscar Underwood and other democratic leaders, that they deemed an extra session congress advisable to revise the tariff.

"I noticed Mr. Underwood's statement, 'I have read several editorials also about immediate action,' was the only comment the president-elect made. The postman who has the Wilson home on his route has had to get help today. On one trip alone he carried 1,000 letters.

SUFFRAGISTS READY FOR RENEWED FIGHT

Will Continue Campaign of Education Unceasingly to Prepare for Election Two Years Hence.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Deeply disappointed but ready to continue the campaign of education unceasingly, the woman's suffrage leaders in this city are planning for the election two years hence. Mrs. Robert M. La Follette believed the separate ballot for the suffrage amendment militated against its success. Although satisfied with the campaign waged by the suffrage workers, she said there would be no letup until Wisconsin followed in the steps of Michigan, Oregon, Kansas and Arizona. She said she had no doubt of the ultimate successful outcome.

Mrs. Joseph Jastrow, Mrs. Harold C. Bradley, daughter of Charles R. Crane, Mrs. John R. Commons and other earnest suffrage advocates expressed optimistic sentiments. "By some the influence of the brewery interests is held responsible for defeat of the amendment.

ROOSEVELT LEAD GROWS IN MINNESOTA RETURNS

St. Paul, Nov. 8.—Returns coming new from the rural districts of Minnesota continue to increase the lead of Theodore Roosevelt over Woodrow Wilson. He has now 16,141 votes ahead of the presidential nominee and progressing to nearly 20,000. Scattering returns indicate that the socialist and prohibitionists have both made gains over their vote 4 years ago, but anything like official figures will be impossible until the official canvass is made. For United States senator Knute Nelson republican leads all other candidates with James Mannahan also republican for congressman at large, next. The entire republican state ticket has been elected. The state legislature will be as follows: Republican 38; Democrats 20; Socialist 1; Prohibition 1.

NEW TARIFF ON GRAIN IS PUT INTO EFFECT.

Winnipeg, Can., Nov. 8.—The Canadian Pacific Railway today put into effect its new tariff on grain shipments from points in western Canada to Duluth and Minneapolis. In the list of railway officials and shippers, the new rates will result in large shipments of grain in bond being made during the remainder of the season from Alberta and Saskatchewan points to Duluth and Minneapolis.

BOOSTERS START FOR THE TOUR OF COUNTY

WILL COVER SEVENTY EIGHT MILES TODAY EXPLOITING JANSVILLE.

18 AUTOS IN CARAVAN

With Bower City Band to Advertise Jansville and the Bargain Week and the Made in Jansville Exhibit.

Jansville is on the map. If anyone doubts it they should have been present when the eighteen autos filled with Jansville boosters started this morning to exploit the great bargain week in Jansville next week and the "Made in Jansville" week in the Auditorium. It is a memorable event in Jansville history and one which will be repeated until the whole of Rock county and the surrounding territory understand that Jansville is the best place to trade in southern Wisconsin.

Eighteen cars, each bearing on the rear a large sign advertising the city and the big display next week, and carrying about sixty Jansville "Boosters" and the Bower City band, left the city at 9:15 o'clock this morning on the first day's run, which includes most of the towns and cities to the north and northwest.

With them the boosters carried twenty thousand handbills advertising the big display, which were distributed in the various places visited. At each stop the band played, and as a Jansville advertising scheme, the run was a great success.

The route for today passed through Johnston, Milton, Milton Junction, Indian Ford, Fulton, Edgerton, Albion, Fort Atkinson, Whitewater, Lima and return to Jansville, and covered about seventy-eight miles.

The noon-day stop was made at Edgerton, where the "boosters" took dinner at the Carlton hotel. The weather was ideal for the run, although the wind was a little chilly, but all of the members of the party were warmly dressed for the day's ride, and suffered no discomfort from the cold.

The party was headed by the official pilot car, Amos Rehberg's machine, in which Mr. Rehberg, Secretary E. E. Lane of the Commercial Club, Edward Amorphi and Joseph Connors were riding. Behind them came four cars of the Kemmerer garage, N. L. Carle, A. P. Lovejoy and C. F. Brockhaus which carried the band and their equipment. The other machines followed by the other boosters, all were large chrysantheums and blue "Jansville" ribbons on their coats.

Today's run was the beginning of a big "Boost Jansville" campaign planned by the merchants and manufacturers of the city to enlist her business interests, to advertise the advantages offered by the city, and in short, to put Jansville "on the map." During the coming week, and for the rest of this week, Jansville and her industries will receive the attention of the people of all the surrounding towns and the rural districts and the campaign will without a doubt be invaluable to the city. The Commercial club, supported by the merchants and manufacturers, has gone into a determination to make it a success, and every effort will be put forth to show the people of Southern Wisconsin what the city can do. It is a great awakening to the business opportunities that lie in the field, and with the energy and vigor that has been instilled into the enterprise, it cannot fail. The display of next week is being planned on a grander scale than was ever before attempted, and the successes of the past exhibitions will be doubled and trebled. The inducements offered to visitors in the city are sufficient to attract large crowds to be here from the surrounding country, and the results of the "boost week" will be extensive, and far-reaching.

The use of the cars taking part in the run today were donated by the following men and firms: A. P. Lovejoy, George M. McKee, Frank Croak, A. L. Hemmens, John Soullman, T. E. Welsh, Amos Rehberg, Rev. J. C. Hazen, John F. Schoof, N. L. Carle, James S. Piffeld, Sanford Soverhill, H. H. Bliss, Archie Reid, C. F. Brockhaus, J. J. Cunningham, Jansville Motor Company and the Kemmerer garage.

The party of boosters included the following: Secretary E. E. Lane, Amos Rehberg, Edward Amorphi, Joseph Connors, A. P. Lovejoy, George M. McKee, A. L. Hemmens, Lynn Whaley, Albert Huebel, George Foran, J. J. Cunningham, Dr. D. J. Leary, Dr. T. Luby, John Soullman, Frank Croak and two sons, John F. Schoof, Rev. J. C. Hazen, J. H. Mead, Ralph Soullman, G. T. Fish, F. W. Zimmerman, C. S. Putnam, Louis Levy, E. Q. Bangs, H. A. Ford, George H. Williamson, C. L. Miller, A. E. Bingham, George S. Wright, R. M. Bostwick, Jr., James S. Piffeld, Harry Garbutt, Peter Neuses, William Pfennig, F. H. Jackman, F. S. Sheldon, H. H. Bliss, E. H. Peterson, Frank Mout, P. J. Mout, Allie Razook, Archie Reid, Jr., B. M. Calkins, William Brockhaus, George Caldwell, Milton Bahr, Louis Brown, George Parker, August Anderson, and Harold Amerpohl.

Married in Rockford: Clara Lawrence and Alfred Schuetzen were married in Rockford on Wednesday of this week. They will reside in this city until spring when they will move onto a farm.

HIS JOY-RIDE CAME TO AN UNHAPPY END.

"Joe Peters" Succeeded in Driving Unbroken Colt to Town But Got Mixed up Going Home.

After succeeding in the daring and hazardous feat of hitching up an unbroken colt that did not know a harness from a hay-stack and driving it to the city in a team, "Joe Peters," well known in the city for his cowardly, got mixed up on his way home early this morning, and instead of driving down a cross street, drove into a yard adjoining a house at the corner of Walker and Hickory Streets where one of the horses became entangled in a wire fence.

The other horse was thrown off its feet by the efforts of the other to extricate itself. Peters was not able to free the horse and called on the neighbors for help. The police had been informed in the meantime and after the wires were cut and the horses released Peters was taken to the police station. The horses were taken to the barn of Frank Kingsley where the wife and son of Peters called for them this morning. In the wagon were found several bottles of beer and Peters had a pint of whiskey in his pocket. He plead guilty to using intoxicants in the municipal court this morning and was sentenced to ten days in the county jail and a fine of $10 and costs or eleven days additional.

Engvall Erickson was also brought up charged with intoxication. On his plea of guilty the judge fined him $3 and costs which he paid.

TODAY'S EDGERTON NEWS

OLD-TIMES SOCIAL
GIVEN AT EDGERTON

T. A. and B. Society Entertains at Pleasant Dancing Party Last Evening—Other News.

Edgerton, Nov. 8.—The center of all attraction in this city last night was an "old times" social dance given by the T. A. and B. society in their hall. The society sent out many invitations, making the attendance large. The dance numbers were in conformity with those of former years and included all the various old square dances. The inspiration was furnished by Kniff's orchestra of Janesville and filled the hall to every requirement. At 11:30 o'clock a box supper was partaken of on the first floor of the hall. The event proved a most complete success socially and will be long remembered by all participants.

Edgerton News Notes.
Russell Conn and Miss Ella Lindqvist went to Lima this morning to spend the day with the latter's sister Miss Ella Lindqvist, who teaches school there.

Mrs. W. P. Guttery has just returned from a stay of a few days in Chicago.

C. E. Shannon has left for Sayner, in the northern part of the state, to put his camp in shape for the opening of the deer hunting season, which opens on the 10th inst.

Henry Wille was in Chicago yesterday, taking his two-year-old son there to a specialist for examination. The little boy has almost become deaf and will be taken to Chicago soon for an operation.

D. W. North has left on a ten days' trip to points in Montana on real estate business.

Mrs. Margaret Mooney left yesterday for Bourbonnais, Ill., going there to remain over Sunday with her son, Roger Mooney, who is attending school there.

Charley Gove, a former Edgerton young man, for some years past residing in the state of Texas, arrived here yesterday and it is likely that he again will take up his home here.

In a clean and hard fought battle today at the Driving Park, the Boy Sportsman Club defeated the Third ward boys by a score of 24 to 0.

The Third ward boys were outclassed in every way, not being able to break up the trick plays of the victorious team.

Thomas Quigley of Edgerton, is a Madison visitor today.

In answer to an invitation sent them by the Stoughton lodge, Knights of Pythias, a goodly number of the Edgerton Knights of Pythias went to Stoughton last night to witness the conferring of the rank of Page. After the work of the evening they were entertained at a delicious banquet which was followed by the usual toasts of members of both orders. The rest of the evening was taken up in smoking and the staging of mock athletic contests. The excellent octette of the Stoughton lodge rendered several very fine numbers. At the close of the evening the Edgerton men gave a rousing cheer for the Stoughton lodge in appreciation of the kindness and hospitality shown.

Miss Ruth Lackner and Miss Buelah Pomeroy visited in Janesville today.

CARDINALS WIN THREE GAMES FROM THE GRAYS.

The Cardinals took three straight games from the Grays in the bowling contest at Hockley's alleys last night. In the last game only were the Cardinals hard pushed by their opponents rolling within eight pins of their total. Richards had high score for the evening with 191 pins in the second game. The result was:

	Cardinals	Grays
Richards	148	191
Yeomans	126	151
Jeffris	118	180
Mead	124	121
Heise	189	142
Total	715	785

Monday evening, Nov. 11, Maroons will meet the Cardinals.

CONCERT BY MALE QUARTET
AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Robley a Mel Quartet Gave Enjoyable Program Last Evening in First Number of Lecture Course.

The Robley male quartet gave a concert last evening at the Presbyterian church, the first number of a lecture course. The program given was a very enjoyable one, and a good-sized audience was in attendance. Readings were given by Baird Robley, who was especially clever in imitating the Hoosier dialect. Several solo numbers formed a part of the program, which concluded with the presentation of a playlet, "The Trials of a College Poet."

HARVARD AND VANDERBILT
FOOTBALL TEAMS MATCHED.

[Special to the Gazette].
Boston, Mass., Nov. 8.—North and South will battle at the Stadium gridiron tomorrow when the eleven of Vanderbilt and Harvard University will engage in what is regarded as one of the most notable of the inter-sectional gridiron football contests of the present season. It will be Vanderbilt's first invasion of this section of the country. Her eleven is regarded as the strongest aggregation among the big Southern colleges and close critics of the game are of the opinion that the Crimson will have to play her best against the Commodores.

JACK BESSEY COMPANY.

Beginning next Sunday afternoon the Myers theatre will open with Jack Bessey supported by his original company, which is conceded to be the best stock company in the middle west. This company will be remembered for the excellent performances they have always given. They have an entirely new repertoire of plays, and with a change of bill every night, together with an entire change of vaudeville between acts with each performance, they should pack the theatre every night. Mr. Bessey himself will assume all the leading roles ably supported by Miss Nell Paul who is without doubt one of the best leading women in the stock business. Prominent among the cast will appear

John Ruskin

"THEY COULD BE SMALLER BUT NOT BETTER"

The next time you buy your usual cigar, risk a nickel and buy a "John Ruskin." If yours is a 10c. cigar we want you to compare the "John Ruskin" with it. If it isn't its equal don't buy another "John Ruskin." Don't be entirely guided by what we say about the "John Ruskin"—buy one; if it will save you many nickels and not cost you any sacrifice in cigar quality. The "John Ruskin" is better and bigger than any cigar sold at its price. It is guaranteed the equal of any 10c. cigar in quality of tobacco, workmanship and every other detail. Yes—that is hard to believe, and that is the very reason we ask you to make us prove it—by buying your first "John Ruskin." We won't have to ask you to buy the second. WEATHER FORECAST.

Fair tonight and Saturday, slightly cooler tonight.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

While Colonel Roosevelt was cleverly denounced by the men who opposed him, and enthusiastically supported by the people who favored him, it may not be out of character to discuss the man passionately, at the close of the campaign, in the death of President McKinley made Theodore Roosevelt president, and it is extremely doubtful if the great honor would have come to him in any other way.

He accepted the nomination for vice president, when it was a question whether he could be re-elected governor of the state of New York, and the accident which deprived the nation of its beloved leader, landed him in the White House.

When he took the oath of office his course was mapped out for three years in advance and his time was devoted to carrying out McKinley's policies, which he did to the satisfaction of the people, and his work was endorsed by a second term, when, as he said himself, he became the president in fact. He made good, and at the close of his administration, was the most popular man in the nation. The third term could have been secured, at that time, with but little opposition, and when he had the good sense to decline, he was permitted to name his successor, and the mantle was offered to his old friend Taft.

To say that Theodore Roosevelt is a great man, and a great leader, is simply to state a fact which everybody recognizes. His name will live in history as one of the few great presidents, because he was close to the people, and because of his tireless work in their behalf.

He preached the doctrine of moral reform and elevated the standard of business morality, and the people became so inspired with confidence and enthusiasm that his word was accepted as law.

When he returned from his year abroad he was still the idol of the people, and had been satisfied to quietly take his place in the ranks, and stand by the party which had honored him, and the man whom he had selected to succeed him, his name would have passed to history untarnished.

This is where the break came, and the reason why he pursued the policy which he did, has been the subject of much heated discussion.

The most charitable construction to place on his acts, is to accept his own explanation, which is to the effect that the country was in danger of retrogression, and needed his guiding hand to hold it steady.

His party in convention assembled last June, could not be made to view the situation from his standpoint, hence the break, and the organization of a new party which was ready to do his bidding.

In spite of all that has since transpired, people generally believe in Colonel Roosevelt's honesty, and many people who opposed him are charitable enough to believe that he honestly thought that the welfare of the country demanded his services as the nation's chief executive.

But there are times in human experience, when being right is more important than being honest, and this was the proposition which confronted the Colonel, at the parting of the ways.

He could better afford to sacrifice an honest opinion, however sacred it might be, than to become a traitor to his old friend, and the party to which he was so heavily indebted.

Theodore Roosevelt is still a great national character, but he made a grave mistake which can not be overlooked. He is still the idol of a remnant of the people, but the zenith of his popularity has passed, never to return.

SQUAD IS ENJOYING WELL EARNED REST

Possible Game With Madison or La Crosse Raises High School Hopes for State Title.

The local football squad have dispensed scrimmage for the remainder of the week, because of no school. Light signal practice was held yesterday afternoon at the Driving Park gridiron. The team is fast rounding into their old form, after the Beloit game, and are in trim for the return game with the Line City boys on Nov. 16th. This game and the Waukesha struggle remain yet on the local schedule and are considered easy games.

The Madison game will be the battle which the locals are looking for. If such a game is arranged, the Janesville team will fight as they have not fought this year. In the five games which the locals have triumphed, they have not let loose in giving out their trick plays, and have quite a repertoire of these formations which they are holding for reserve.

Atwood is out in uniform, to get in the lineup before the big games. His height and weight is a marvel, and he should prove a hard man in the forward line. He may be used at tackle, as he is the most efficient at that position.

Regular practice will be resumed on Monday night, and as soon as Madison is heard from, the locals will start a strenuous drill for the championship game.

Should La Crosse defeat Madison

on Nov. 16th, the locals will arrange a game with the heavy upstate team, for the title. It is generally conceded that Janesville high school has a team which can stand the test of any other high school team in the state. The school has only about 430 students, and it is marvelous to obtain such fine material out of a squad of about thirty men.

Edler is out for the all-state team as left halfback, while Capt. Connell will undoubtedly take a place at right end, where he is working at a high clip. Edler was picked last year for the all-state team on one selection, and is expected to be a regular man when this selection is made this year. Edler must show up well in the final games to have a showing. In the three games which he has played he has had a wonderful record. He can equal any man in the state for running in a broken field. He often scores a touchdown with several opponents hanging on his back. This is probably due to his weight, as he tips the beam at 173 pounds.

The Beloit game will be the attraction of next week, and the locals are preparing to wipe up Beloit as they have never done before.

Work Nearly Completed: Work of laying the rails for the new storage tracks of the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad near the Hanson furniture factory will be completed tomorrow, it is expected and the gang of sixty-five Italian laborers who have been working here will return to Chicago. When the track of ballasting is completed, the tracks will be ready for use.

Don't Pay Too Much for Your Shoes—Save Money at Rehberg's.

Here are some special values in men's and women's fine shoes and on the most remarkable we ever made at this time of the year. It is a noteworthy fact that these are not "bargain shoes," such as you see in the periodical shoe sales elsewhere, seemingly made for the purpose. These shoes are taken right from our regular stocks and there is not an old one in the lot. This means that every shoe offered is a safe shoe to buy, and fully guaranteed by us as good value at the original price. It also means that there are many different styles, and any customer can find a pair that fits without any long searching.

Women's shoes, $3.00 values at $2.45; $3.50 values at $2.95; $2.50 values at $1.95. Men's shoes, $3.00 values at $2.45; $3.50 values at $2.95; $4.00 values at $3.45.

AIM TO ACCOMMODATE CHURCH SOCIETIES

Librarians Will Place References and Material for Topics Discussed On A Special Shelf.

During the coming winter some of the men's clubs and church brotherhoods plan to give considerable attention on their programs to Socialism, Public Health and Civic Improvement, both moral and physical. The Janesville Public Library wishes to serve such bodies of citizens in every possible way, and officers and members of these societies who wish books or magazine references on these or other topics, are requested to hand in their subjects at the library. A number of books on these topics have been placed on a special shelf, where they can be consulted or drawn out as desired, and a list of references to material in periodicals has also been prepared.

Crusher Breaks Down: The city stone crusher was temporarily put out of commission by the breaking of a cog wheel last night. A new one to replace it was immediately wired for and will be sent by express so the delay in resuming operations will not be long. There is sufficient stone on hand to keep the Washington street improvement from being delayed.

Removed to Hospital: John Spirik, the sugar factory employee who suffered a severe injury to his head Wednesday afternoon when he fell and struck it against the curb on South Main Street, was removed to the county hospital this morning on the advice of Dr. Charles Sutherland. Spirik does not improve and it is feared he may have fractured his skull. He complains that his head hurts him when he rises up and he is very dizzy.

RE-ELECT MADISON MAN AS DIRECTOR OF BANK

Sol. Levitan, Who Resigned Position To Become Taft Elector Given Old Place on Board.

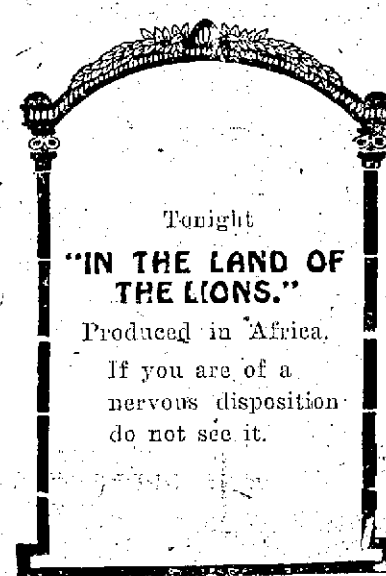

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Nov. 8.—Sol. Levitan of this city, who resigned as a director of the Commercial National bank of Madison in order to remain eligible as a republican presidential elector, yesterday was unanimously re-elected at a special meeting of the board of directors. Inasmuch as the republican national ticket, for which he was pledged to vote was not successful at the polls, he is not barred from continuing as a director of a national bank.

"The will of the people has been manifested in the election of Gov. Wilson," said Mr. Levitan today, "and we all should unite to support him in every way that we can in order that the country's prosperity need not decline."

Tremendous Bargains Here During Merchants and Manufacturers Week

This sale will grow in popularity as the days progress. There are two special features about this great sale at The Big Store which will make it stand out prominently above all others: First—stocks are not a jumbled lot, where you have to hunt for what you want—but they are complete and fine and so arranged as to make selection easy. Second—prices mean an immense saving.

"How did the Bird know that—?" Our guarantee of Satisfaction has brought nothing but bigger—better—broader business.

Playing Socrates!

Looking for honest (rubber goods)?

Can't blame you nowadays. It is the easiest thing in the world to hide inferiority in rubber goods—you can't tell whether an article manufactured of rubber is good or not—until you try it—

We sell the best lines of rubber goods made and we know it—

It pays us to tell the truth! we've tried them for years.

There are a number of reasons why we CAN and DO give you

THE BEST FOR THE LEAST

One is we are a strictly one price cash store and having no book accounts, avoid losses which are always added to the costs of merchandise where goods are charged. We offer special inducements during the Merchants and Manufacturers week, Nov. 11 to 16, only a few of which are mentioned here:

Shaker flannels from 5¢ to 15¢
Flannelettes figured,
at 10¢, 12½¢, 15¢, and 18¢

Ladies' and Children's Sweaters

In high and V-neck, single and double breasted, in children's as low as 65¢ and ladies $1.00 to $5.00

We also have the latest creation in ladies' and misses' Panama hats, at $1.25

Knit Underwear

Our stock of knit underwear in ladies' children's and men's is complete.

Ladies' Petticoats

We are showing two specials, one at 59¢ and another which is a black sateen with a grey interlining which is very practical for $1.75

Knit Skirts

For ladies and children, from 50¢ to $1.25.

Flannelette Gowns

For men, women and children,
from 50¢ to $1.25

Blanket Special

We have just received another lot of our exceptional values in the $1.00 blanket, also $1.25 to $1.50

Gloves and Mittens

Our stock of ladies' and children's mittens is very complete from 20¢ upwards, also golf gloves.

Our "Diana" Kid Glove at $1.00 has no equal at the price.

Ladies' Misses' and Children's Coats

Ladies in black and colors from $7.50 upward. A delayed shipment of above has just been received.

Misses' in colors from $6.00 and upwards.
Children's in black and colors,
from $2.75 to $7.50

Children's and Misses Dresses

We admit a mistake was made in selecting too many of the higher grade garments and what we have will be offered as follows:

Our $5.98 blue serge in sailor effect with plaited skirt, now $5.00

Our $6.50 blue serge with red and white trim, now $5.75

Our $9.00 blue, red and brown serge with panel front and back, now $7.75

Our $15.00 blue serge Norfolk suit, now $12.50

This lot is limited. First come, first served.
We guarantee satisfaction on all our merchandise or money refunded.

LIVESTOCK MARKET
SLOW AND STEADY

Hogs Have Five Cent Advance but Demand is None Too Keen—Cattle Market Slow.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—The general tone of the livestock market was slow this morning, although there were no decided price reductions. Hogs were favored with a five cent advance in price which made the bulk of sales average between $7.90 and $8.20. Cattle had a slow sale although prices remained steady. Sheep continued steadily with receipts at 12,000. Following are quotations:

Cattle—Receipts 3,000; market, slow, steady; beefs 5.30@10.55; Texas steers 4.35@5.55; Western 5.50@9.20; stockers and feeders 4.15@7.15; cows and heifers 2.55@7.40; calves 6.50@10.15.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Theodore Weirick.

Shoplex, Nov. 3.—Funeral services for Mrs. Theo. Weirick were held at the home this afternoon. Interment was made in the village cemetery.

Mrs. Weirick, whose maiden name was Eva Rice, was born at Baraboo, Wis. Nov. 30, 1861. She came to Shoplex with her parents when a small child and resided there since. She was married Aug. 2, 1877.

Mrs. Anna Radigan.

Mrs. Anna Radigan, wife of Thomas Radigan, Sr., died at 8:45 o'clock last night at her home, 406 Washington street. She had been in ill-health for a long time but had been confined to her bed for only two weeks. Mrs. Radigan was born in Janesville in July, 1860, and married to Thomas Radigan on November 24, 1880. She was a devoted mother, beloved by many friends, and esteemed by all of her acquaintances. She was an active member of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters, Court No. 318. Surviving her and mourning her loss are two daughters, Stella and Nellie Radigan, and one son, Thomas Radigan, Jr. Requiem masses will be celebrated at nine o'clock tomorrow morning at St. Patrick's church. Interment will be made in Mt. Olivet cemetery.

Healthy Women Scarce

is the Verdict of Scientific Investigation.

How many women do you know who are perfectly well, strong and healthy as a woman should be? They may not be sick enough to lie in bed—but they are run-down, thin, nervous, tired and devitalized.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headache, backache, nervousness and kindred ills.

Such women need Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic with cut oil which will create an appetite, tone up the digestive organs, make pure blood and create strength.

Mrs. W. G. Ritchie, Patchogue, N. Y., says: "Vinol is certainly the best tonic I have ever taken. I was run down and tired all the time, but, thanks to Vinol, I am feeling all right again."

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

WORKMAN SUSTAINED A BAD SCALP WOUND

Charles Lewis Struck on Head by Windlass Handle While Working on New Apollo Theatre.

Charles Lewis, a workman employed in the construction of the new Apollo theatre on West Milwaukee street, sustained a bad scalp wound this morning when he was struck a hard blow on his forehead just over his right eye by the handle of a windlass. The windlass was being used to lower in place a huge steel beam, weighing between four and five tons. Lewis was operating it and just before the beam reached the floor he was ordered to "slack up" by one of the other workmen. He released the "dog" in the ratchet wheel and the handle was released from his grasp by the weight of the beam and flew up and struck him in the forehead. The blow rendered him unconscious but he recovered consciousness before the arrival of the ambulance. He was removed to Mercy hospital where Drs. T. W. Nizum and Guy C. Waukele attended him. It was found that there was a depression in Lewis' skull but no fracture, and his right hand was badly sprained. Reports from the hospital this afternoon stated that his condition was as good as could be expected. Lewis is an Englishman and has no relatives in this country. He is about thirty-eight years old.

Extraordinary Shoe Values---Big Savings On New Shoes

FOR many years this store has enjoyed the reputation of being "Janesville's Greatest Shoe Store." We carry more shoes and better shoes than any other shoe store in town. And when we say a certain value is the "best yet" you can depend that it is.

Wonderful Prices for Saturday and Merchants' and Manufacturers' Week.

These prices are not quoted on old shoes that have been laying around the store for years, but are on good, new, stylish shoes. No better shoe bargains in town.

Great Special Prices On Suits and Overcoats, $14.75

The largest and most comprehensive display of men's outer garments ever shown in Janesville. Daily we add to our tremendous stock and right now we have a "bargain fest" of unusual importance.

You Yourself Will Admit the Values Are Unprecedented.

You must admit it—fairness will compel you to; after you've carefully examined the quality, the make and style of our suits and overcoats you will realize that Rehberg's prices are lowest; all models are shown here, styles too numerous to mention; starting at $10 the prices range upward to $30. We call special attention to one big special line at

$14.75

This price should cause a generous buying; you can't duplicate their value anywhere else. Included in this great lot are all of the latest weaves and colorings; suits and overcoats with touches of originality that make them the choice of the best dressers; in short suits and overcoats worth $18 easily.

WHO WILL CONTROL NEXT LEGISLATURE?

Fight on Already Between the La-Follette and McGovern Members—Democrats in a Minority.

The Wisconsin legislature of 1912 will be composed as follows:

Senate—Republicans, 23; democrats 9; social democrat, 1.

Assembly—Republican, 56; democrats, 38; social democrats, 6.

Should the republicans who ran for the senate and assembly in Milwaukee county on the democratic ticket, as non-partisans divide on party lines the republicans in the senate would gain two and the democrats lose the same number, and in the assembly the republicans would gain three, the democratic membership being reduced that much.

The fight for the speakership of the assembly will overshadow all else from now until the legislature meets. The announcement of L. L. Johnson, Sturgeon Bay, made on Thursday, that he is a candidate for speaker has precipitated the fight, which otherwise might have lain dormant for some weeks. Assemblyman T. J. Mahon's hat has been in the ring for several months, in the case of his re-election which was looked upon as certain. These two candidates represent the La-Follette and McGovern factions in the republican party in the state.

An Entangling Alliance.

When Assemblyman Mahon voluntarily retired from the congressional fight in the new Eighth district last summer, leaving Senator E. E. Brown a clear field, it was understood that in repayment for such withdrawal he would have the support of the La-Follette men for speaker. Mr. Mahon's slide over into the bull moose party will, unless all signs fail cancel any earlier promises and if he runs it will be as the McGovern candidate. Mr. Mahon, who was in Milwaukee on Thursday, while unwilling to make a statement, showed clearly that he considered himself a candidate for the speakership.

As the lines are now drawn the first conflict between the senator and the governor will come therefore, at the beginning of the legislative session. La-Follette men admit this and say that there will be no question, when it comes to a vote in the party caucus for the nomination of a speaker who will win.

Other Candidates Probable.

White Messrs. Johnson and Mahon will be the candidates on whom the limelight will be centered there are others who will come into the light. From what has already been heard there is a probability of four other members of the assembly coming in. These are R. J. Nye, Superior; Merlin Hull, Black River Falls; Axel Johnson, Turtle Lake, and W. E. Hurlbut, Omro. Mr. Hull was a candidate for speaker four years ago but withdrew before the meeting of the republican legislative caucus. He has served several terms in the assembly. Mr. Nye has two terms in the assembly to his credit and was one of the McGovern leaders in the lower house in 1911. Mr. Johnson is another old member while Mr. Hurlbut will enter on his second term next January.

In the senate there will be no struggle over the position of president pro tem, who presides over the upper house, when the lieutenant governor is not present. This honor will go by unanimous consent to Senator H. C. Martin of Darlington, who is the dean of the senate and is serving his fourth term in that body. The empty honor of being the candidate on the democratic side will probably go to Senator Paul O. Hustung.

Scuttling Confident.

Marquette, Nov. 8.—Assemblyman-elect A. E. Schwittay left last night for Madison. He announced before leaving that he had received the following telegram from the governor: "Speakership open. Will you consider?" He offered to wager money before leaving he would be the next speaker. He claimed he is backed by the governor.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, Nov. 8.—Laurant, the magician, at Broughton's opera house next Monday evening as the first number of the lecture course for the present season.

Misses Frances Wallace and Mercedes Wilson went Thursday morning to Beloit for a few days' visit with friends.

Miss Marjorie Skinner is the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Smith, at Milton, having gone to that place on Thursday.

Mrs. R. B. Gifford and daughter, Miss Allie Gifford of Monroe, are guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rodenbeck, and other relatives and friends until Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Cooley, who has been visiting her father, R. H. Rugg, for a week or more past, returned Thursday to her home in Chicago.

Mrs. Adam Fleck, Jr., and baby, were passengers to Chicago for a few days' stay on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Mitchell, South Dakota, are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Smith and others.

Miss Minnie Philbrick is reported as being among those on the sick list. W. E. Hamilton has broken ground for a new residence near the one he now occupies on the south side.

On account of the absence of the pastor, Rev. Thos. P. Walter, and the vanishing of the seats, there will be no preaching services nor Sunday school in the Methodist church next Sunday, November 10th.

Messrs. Wm. Kibbe, Mont Hopkins, Mayo Hartman and A. M. Kuezel left Thursday morning for Togo, on a hunting trip. At the same time Messrs. F. D. Gardner, C. B. Atkinson and J. A. Koller went on a hunting trip to Stanley.

WOUNDED WILDCAT PUTS UP A FIGHT

Hunter Is Attacked and Knocked Down by Animal He Had Shot.

DOG PROVED A COWARD

Infuriated Beast Springs From Tree Upon Pennsylvanian and Terribly Claws Him Before It Finally Falls Dead From Effects of Gunshot.

Proctor, Pa.—To have been knocked down by the force of a falling wildcat which he had shot, and then violently and dangerously attacked by the wounded animal, was the terrible experience of Peter Shugro in the Occonia woods the other night. Though showing cowardice to the extent of running away when his master was brought to the necessity of doing personal combat with the infuriated wildcat, yet the sagacity of Shugro's loon-dog lent itself to securing the help which he so badly needed in order to reach home.

In the very thickest part of the ravine the dog began a furious "tonguing" and planted herself at the foot of a quite tall hemlock, which was partially fire-killed and hence quite open twenty feet or more above ground. Shugro could hear the unmistakable sounds of scraping claws in the first limbs of the old tree, and he was quite sure that he could distinguish the black heap or form which he took to be the raccoon. The dog went fairly wild with excitement.

Shugro finally concluded to dance a shot, and the moment the rifle cracked there was a yell that Shugro recognized as that of a member of the cat tribe. And the next instant the animal, whatever it was, came flying through space and landed squarely upon Shugro's head and shoulders. The weight of the thing knocked him sprawling upon the ground among the bushes, while the animal still clung to him and began a desperate attack with his claws, sparing neither his face nor arms and biting and scratching in a manner that Shugro knew was bringing blood at every contact. In falling, he had lost hold of his rifle and the gun had slipped away out of his reach. It was a case of fighting the animal, which by this time he knew was either a catamount or a wildcat, alone. This he did with all the might he could summon, though the battle was so terrific that he was unable to get on his feet. Once in an effort to do so he slipped and so badly sprained his knee that the pain of it made him yell in agony, and he was practically helpless so far as standing was concerned. He felt the blood of the animal splash upon his face and hands, and knew that the thing must be desperately wounded, as was proven to be the case, for at the end of ten minutes it stopped its fighting as suddenly as it had begun, and fell to the ground, dead. Shugro called for the dog, but she had deserted him. Not even a whine could he get. His father finally found and helped him home.

Walked to Death in Her Sleep.
Baltimore, Md.—Walking in her sleep with a lighted lamp in her hand, Mrs. Mary J. Hummel dropped the lamp, or fell with it, and was burned to death in her home. That she was unconscious when the flames enveloped her is indicated by the fact that no one in the house heard an outcry.

She Is Rid of It at Last!
Terre Haute.—"I am glad for the opportunity to have my name changed," said Miss Katherine Oytorddem-gentschenfeldt, 23 years old, as she was handed the papers which gave her the privilege to change the burdensome appellation. She was to be married to Louis Kalen, a farmer.

Boy Swallows 'Pail Handle.
Albany, N. Y.—When five-year-old John Geyer was playing near his home here he swallowed the seven-inch wire handle of a tin pail. An ambulance surgeon managed to remove the wire while the boy was on his way to the hospital. The next time he may swallow the pail.

SACRIFICING ALL, PATRIOTIC SERBIAN WOMEN ENLIST IN COUNTRY'S CAUSE

Mrs. Tamboraski on her way to the front.

Serbian women are sacrificing everything to help their country in the present war with Turkey. Many of them have joined the army and are fighting side by side with their husbands and brothers. Others have gone to the front as nurses.

Among the rich Serbian women who have sacrificed everything is Mrs. Eliska Peris N. Tamboraski. She has given her palatial home, and all her money to the Red Cross. In the accompanying picture she is seen on her way to the front at Pogerizvota, where she will organize the hospital work.

Bible Was Put into Rhyme.

Verifications, not only of the Psalms but of the other books of the Bible, were numerous in the sixteenth century. One of the most prolific versifiers was William Hunnis, who, under such fanciful titles as "Seven Sobs of a Sorrowful Soul for Sin," "A Handful of Honeysuckles," "A Hivelful of Honey," etc., published a number of rhyming versions of Genesis and Job, which are now worth their weight in gold to the bibliomaniac.

Ancients Knew of Elevators.

That the ancient Romans knew how to work lifts is the latest discovery reported from Rome in connection with the Palatine excavations. Pre-Roman remains have been found, including 12 ancient lifts. One of the latter, which descends into the earliest known city, is now being cleaned and put into working order for the Archaeological Congress.

Squirrels' Instinctive Gift.

Squirrels, it is said, know how to judge distances accurately, for they seldom jump two distances alike, yet never fail to land safely when an inch too far or too short would mean disaster. And dogs run along beside horses' heels, judging accurately the safe distance, and are seldom, if ever, injured.

Moth Eggs.

If you have reason to suspect that moth eggs are hidden in the edges of the carpet saturate the carpet all around the edges with a solution of strong alum water. This, it is said, will effectually destroy moth eggs.

Fine Furs

Jack Frost has already given us a taste of the wintry days and nights to come. So there is more than ordinary interest in today's news from our fur department—news of a particularly distinguished gatherings of the best and most stylish furs and in every case a saving of one-third.

Buy Your Furs at Reid's and Save Money

The Low Prices Have Even Set Some People Doubting. Fur Prices are Going up. Time to Buy Now

We are selling these furs as we bought them—far below regular prices. Take advantage of this fact. At the present time there is a strike in New York among the fur workers that is tying up some $10,000,000 worth of furs. This is bound to make fur prices increase this winter. Our prices will remain the same as they have been, 33% below regular retail prices elsewhere.

Our splendid fur stock affords opportunity for most discriminating selection—a variety probably not approached in Janesville. Hundreds of fur pieces and sets in Black Lynx, Black Marten, Black French Coney, Black Russian Wolf, Gray Russian Wolf, Gray Lynx, River Mink, Jap Mink, Hudson Bay Mink and many others.

MILLINERY

A stock equal to any in the city at one-third below what you can buy it for elsewhere.

TRUE GRIT.

BY WILL SEAT.

It happened suddenly, unexpectedly. She had always known that there was a god-mother in her little story, an august, invisible lady who had given her the gold-lined rug she cherished and had thereafter apparently done with making gifts forever. However, she did not bother her head about her godmother. She had other and more serious things to occupy her mind.

Since her mother died six years before, Jinny had supported herself by sewing. Her mother had been a skillful needlewoman and had taught Jinny all she knew. In consequence Jinny always had plenty of work, and work meant shelter and food and clothing for her.

A little good instruction in cutting and fitting would have made her a first-class dressmaker, but this instruction was unobtainable, and so Jinny did the best she could with what she knew. She understood that she could not always go on sewing. There must come a time when her sight would fail and her hands tremble. Then, unless she was married or had saved enough to take care of her, she must go to the poorhouse, or at best the old ladies' home.

Jinny was quite alone in the world, having no relations and no intimate friends of her own, unless, indeed, Dan might be called an intimate friend.

Jinny considered Dan very seriously. She knew he wanted to marry her, and she kept evading the question, deferring the actual moment, and thus enjoying it the longer in anticipation, for she believed that when Dan spoke she would consent to marry him.

What else could she do? There were only the three things to look forward to—the poorhouse, the old ladies' home, and marriage with Dan. She chose the latter.

One night, coming home from prayer meeting, Dan startled her fairly out of her wits by proposing to her, and before she had time to reason she blurted out a "No!" Of course she had not meant to say no, but he had taken her by surprise. She had cried herself to sleep that night.

But the next day she had ceased to be Jinny Saxe who sewed for her living and existed in two small rented rooms, and had to count each penny two ways, how it came and how it must go. A long-silent lady, lacking strangely enough, all other kith and kin at her dying, had left her fortune to her obscure godchild.

There in her room, surrounded by her sewing, the girl tried to realize what had happened to her. Four hundred dollars a month for every month so long as she should live! And there lay Mrs. Cross' new chamber, all but finished, and two gingham for Anna Mills, just cut out, and a lot of shirtwaist stuff which Miss Peabody had brought in, and then—then she would be free.

Dazedly she went to work. It was not June weather, and her small sewing room was close, almost breathless. Her hands moistened and darkened the needle with rust. It was too hot to work, and yet she did not know how to stop.

Toll and poverty had become almost habit with her. But her heart sang. "Four hundred dollars a month!" Four hundred dollars a month! Why, that was more than she had ever earned in a year!

When presently Mrs. Cross came in she saw a flushed, excited girl stitching away as for dear life.

"Why, Jinny," the kind woman said, "you look feverish. Are you ill?"

"No, only so happy—so happy! O, Mrs. Cross—" And, half laughing, half crying, stumbling, stammering with joy, Jinny told her good news. Mrs. Cross stared, exclaimed and collapsed into a chair. To think that her unassuming little servant of the needle should become the possessor of riches. It was well nigh inconceivable!

"My dear child," she said. And then she took the work from Jinny's hands and laid it aside. "You must not take another stitch. C-t up and begin to enjoy your wonderful good fortune. Let me tell you how."

And then she told Jinny. She was a woman of large means and experience, a discerning woman, and as Jinny listened to her the future unfolded before her such new meanings, such delightful possibilities that she fell to sobbing with joy at the revelation.

The thought came to her like a sting. "Suppose I had said 'yes' instead of 'no' to Dan last night!"

Jinny had found a capable friend, and she sewed no more from that day. She was going abroad, accompanied by a cousin of Mrs. Cross—a sensible, middle-aged woman of education, whose business in life was to steer about those who needed steering. Jinny very much needed steering, and so Miss Dabney had undertaken her.

Then followed wonderful, full, breathless days of preparation. There were clothes to be bought, books to be read, people to receive who came with congratulations.

Jinny's life had changed completely. She was in Mrs. Cross' home, and for the first time she knew what it was to be served instead of serving. She passed by poor, pale hard-working Dan with a careless nod. The day before she went away he sorrowfully sought her.

"Goodby, Jinny. God bless and keep you," he faltered.

"Goodby, dear Dan," she answered, lightly.

After all, she was very young, and it was a quick shift from a sewing girl to an heiress. Her new clothes had made a marvelous change in Jinny. They had transformed her from a dowdy into a fashionable young woman. Miss Dabney was very hopeful for her.

"She is bright and well bred and exceedingly receptive. She will make a good match," she told Mrs. Cross.

But marriage, now that she no longer needed to choose between that and the poorhouse, had lost its interest for Jinny.

Europe proved to be a wonder to her. And she herself was a constant surprise to Miss Dabney. She never showed weariness; she never complained; she never became impatient or vexed. She remembered what she saw.

There was no doubt at all that Jinny was going to be a success as an heiress. A few young men scented money and pursued her for the sake of it; a few others admired her because she was fresh and sweet and unspoiled. She was kind to them while they were in her company, but she soon moved on and forgot them.

Miss Dabney kept her abroad two years. After that they tried California mountains and the seashore, for as many summers. In spite of the most skillful managing she slipped through those four years apparently heart-whole.

Miss Dabney became uneasy. It was time that Jinny settled upon somebody, and she told the girl so frankly. Jinny heard with a faraway look in her eyes. Then she drew long breath.

"Let's go home," she said.

"Home?" Miss Dabney looked bewildered.

"Yes, home—to Arles."

"But, my dear child," Miss Dabney protested, "there's nothing there."

"There's everything there," Jinny said, passionately.

So one day, in the midst of a spring storm, they landed in Arles. Mrs. Cross was delighted with Jinny, whom she had not seen for four years.

"How you have improved," she exclaimed.

"Miss Dabney has been very good to teach me, and I've tried to learn," Jinny answered simply.

She was anxious to know something she dared not ask. Well, she would find out in her own way. She must know what had become of Dan, of whom she had heard nothing in four years.

Next day, when the rain had ceased, leaving behind it a high, chill wind, she dressed appropriately and went forth a-seeking.

"GOOD-BY, JINNY," HE FALTERED.

How to Open Religious Conversation

By REV. H. W. POPE,
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT: Acts 1:8—"Ye shall be witnesses unto me."

Open it just as you would any other conversation. Decide what you wish to say, and then say it. Say it in the same tone in which you would speak of anything else. It is a great mistake to suppose that one must lower his voice, and look solemn, the moment he introduces the subject of religion. The gospel is good news. "If you do not think so, the less you say about it the better, but if it is really good news to you, then speak of it in the same joyful way that you would bring any other glad tidings.

The president of one of our largest theological seminaries was led to Christ in this way. During his college course, as he came out of recitation one day, a classmate gave him a slap on the back and said, "Say, Gus, I wish you were a Christian." Gus made no reply and the matter was dropped, but years afterwards he told his friend that it was that remark which led him to accept Christ as his saviour. The hearty and natural way in which his companion spoke, made him feel that he was missing something which he could not afford to lose.

Study the art of diverting conversation to spiritual topics. Go through the Gospel of John and study carefully the Saviour's methods of approaching men. Indeed, the Gospel of John might be called the personal worker's gospel, so full is it of incidents which illustrate this important subject. Take the case of the Samaritan woman. Jesus asked her for a drink of water. As he drank it you can imagine him saying, "This is very good water, but any one who drinks it will soon thirst again; whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst, but the water that I shall give him shall become in him a well of water, springing up unto eternal life." "What is that?" asked the woman. "A water, which if you once drink it, you never thirst again." "Sir, give me this water that I thirst not, neither come all the way hither to draw." By this clever device he excited her curiosity simply to attract attention to himself. At another time he is the Good Shepherd, but whatever the subject of conversation, he always leaves his hearers face to face with the son of God, and his supreme claim upon them.

"But I am not the Saviour," you reply. "Very true, but if you are a Christian, the Saviour dwells in you, and he has said, 'I will give you a mouth and a wisdom which all your adversaries shall not be able to gain-say or resist.'"

I know a lady to whom an agent was trying to sell an article for taking out stains. He was rubbing, away, and meanwhile eloquently describing the merits of his goods. Soon the lady said, "I know something that will take out stains too." "What is that?" asked the man eagerly, not knowing but that some other dirt-killer had canvassed the town ahead of him. "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin. Do you know anything about that, my friend?" Do you suppose that man would demonstrate his goods again for six months without thinking of that "other something," which could take stains out of a sinful heart? I doubt if he would forget that lesson to his dying day.

A friend of mine at the Northfield conference was asked by an expressman to direct him to a certain man's tent. "I am very sorry," he replied, "that I cannot tell you where to find him, but if you had asked me the way to heaven I could have told you. Do you know the way to heaven?" "No," said the man, "I cannot say that I do." "Well, it is just this way," said my friend, and he went on to explain it. The result was that the man was led to Christ right then and there.

Choose an opportune time and place. It is not well to stop one who is running for a train to inquire about his soul, neither is it the highest wisdom to give a hungry man a tract. Far better give him a cup of coffee, and make it so hot that he cannot drink it. Then while he is sipping the coffee, you can perhaps say something to warm his heart.

Remember that people are often more ready to talk with strangers about religion than with those whom they know. Remember that the Holy Spirit is all the while convicting people of sin; the Providence of God is continually softening hearts, and preparing the way for some one to drop in the good seed of the gospel. Remember also that thousands of people have never once in all their life had the way of salvation made plain to them, and then in a firm but loving way have been urged to settle the question, and settle it now.

FAMOUS AMERICAN INDIANS

By ALBERT PATSON TERNUNE
KEOKUK.

The Sac tribe met in solemn council to choose a chief. At least they thought they were gathered for that purpose. One man—Keokuk ("The Watchful One")—knew better. He knew that the chief was already practically chosen and that he himself was booked for the high office. For years Keokuk had schemed and toiled and intrigued in secret for the chieftainship. He had many obstacles to overcome. For instance, he did not belong to one of the tribe's ruling families, from which chiefs were always taken. In fact, he was a "rank outsider," the last man that the Indian aristocrats of the old school would be likely to choose to rule them. Yet by years of sheer diplomacy he had outwitted them all. And when the election was over he was declared chief.

A Blow and a Feud.

Up from the circle of leaders leaped an Indian warrior—Black Hawk. Disgusted at the choice of his people, he showed his contempt for the new chief and for the election itself by tearing off his folded blanket and striking Keokuk across the face with it. Keokuk bore the blow meekly. But at a far later day he avenged it. Thus began the lifelong feud between Keokuk and Black Hawk.

Keokuk was born in the Sac and Fox territory in Illinois about 1780. Of lowly parentage, in a "nation" where ancestry counted for much, he nevertheless set out early in life to rise to the summit of power. His life motto was that the men who know when to pretend to lose may often win. He was a fighter. Tales of his exploits on the battlefield—both on the side of the British in the war of 1812 and against rival Indian tribes—were told far and near. But mere warlike courage could not avail to win him the promotion he wished. So he turned to diplomacy. He was a wondrous orator and quickly made a name for himself in tribal councils.

Keokuk was too wise not to see the uselessness of opposing the white men's westward progress. He foresaw that the government would soon be all-powerful in the west. So he not only pretended to make friends with the white authorities, but managed always to use the seeming friendship to his own advantage. Where gallant, impetuous Black Hawk broke himself to pieces in the vain effort to thrust back the tide of civilization, Keokuk craftily swam with that tide to prosperity and safety. When the government bought for a mere pittance the ancient hunting grounds and village of the Sacs and Foxes, Keokuk urged his people to obey the white man's orders and move westward to new lands.

Black Hawk refused to move west with the bulk of his "nation." He called on the Sacs and Foxes to rally to his standard and to attack the white men. The council had practically decided to do so. When Keokuk arose and by a marvelously eloquent speech persuaded the bulk of the "nation" to keep the peace. His pleas are said to have held back other tribes from joining the confederation. Thus Black Hawk went to war against the government with only a small part of the force he would otherwise have had. Keokuk was beginning to pay for the blow Black Hawk had struck him. And, as the war's terrible death list showed, the debt was paid by many an innocent man—both red and white—as well as by Black Hawk himself.

Black Hawk was totally routed by the government troops late in 1832 and was taken captive. While his enemy was in prison Keokuk made his own position so strong with Indians and Washington authorities alike that he was appointed by the president as head chief of all his "nation." He lived in royal state at a village on the site of the present city of Keokuk, Ia. Black Hawk returned from captivity in 1833, found himself deposed, supplanted and utterly subjugated by the wily diplomat.

The Final Revenge.

The local Indian official, Major Garland, at a banquet given in honor of Black Hawk's release, told the returned captive that the president desired him henceforth to obey Keokuk's orders in all things. Black Hawk, in fury at this crowning insult, declared he would obey no one. Keokuk smiled blandly and said:

"Our brother is old. Let us forget what he has just said!"

Maddened, helpless before the smiling diplomacy of his foe, Black Hawk gave the impression of being unworthy the loving kindness of his great and good friend, Keokuk. But members of Black Hawk's former band understood the situation and sided with their old chieftain. Between them and Keokuk's followers there was always ill-feeling, and often bloodshed. Soon afterward, Black Hawk, broken-hearted at his treatment, died. Keokuk had paid the "debt of the blow" in full. He settled down on a forty-mile Iowa River estate given him by the government.

But those who had loved the brave, unlucky Black Hawk did not consider the account squared. They bided their time, however, and let Keokuk live on in fancied security. In 1845 he moved to Kansas. There, three years later (June, 1848), an ex-follower of Black Hawk killed him by poison.

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

Printing Frame Which Makes Portrait Look Like Engraving—Any Amateur May Acquire Effect.

Much of the ingenuity of the photographic artist is directed to the end of getting away from photography. Under ordinary circumstances, the camera makes such a sharp and distinct image, reproducing every line and blemish with such unerring accuracy that the result is regarded as offensive and in violation to the traditions of art. So the worker with the camera resorts to various means of relieving the picture of this accusation, endeavoring to make the picture appear as some of the many forms followed by artist such as engraving, the tone of the engraving make the photograph resemble an engraving, the tone of the engraving ink is imitated by modification of the developer and the desired effect is further heightened by printing the picture in the center of a large sheet with a border tint surrounding the picture and a margin of white paper. This art was known for a few workers who improvised and devised the means for securing this effect, but there has been recently invented a printing frame by which this is accomplished in a very simple manner. Thus any amateur may now obtain the effect which has been formerly the exclusive property of a few professionals.

PHASES OF AN EARTHQUAKE

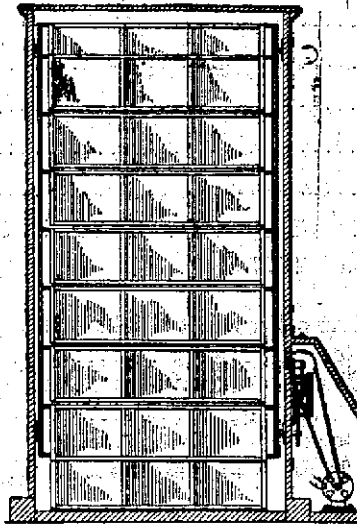

Seismograph at Messina Indicates Possibility of Warning Given Before Big Shock Arrived.

In the subterranean chamber of the Messina observatory a seismograph made a most interesting record of the great earthquake, which indicates the possibility of warning being given by such instruments several minutes before the disastrous shock arrives. The great movement, according to this record, began with a very slight shock, which was repeated. For ten seconds it increased in violence, and for another ten seconds decreased. Ten minutes next passed without disturbance. Then came a second shock of great intensity, accompanied with a loud subterranean rumbling, and this was the shock that caused the calamity. One cannot help thinking how many thousands of lives might have been made safe in those precious ten minutes if the first warning had been communicated to the public.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

PEOPLE WHO ANTAGONIZE.

A WOMAN who had been very successful as one of the subordinates in a window trimming department was hired away by another shop to head their department. She had been extremely valuable to her first employer because she was so full of original ideas and suggestions. In the second shop she was a complete failure and was soon discharged.

Why? Because, while she knew almost everything there was to know about window trimming, she didn't know one thing about tact.

She went to her new position bristling with impatience to revolutionize the department. She hadn't been in the office an hour before she told a man who had been in the business twice as long as she had that his ideas were all nonsense.

Undoubtedly she was right in a good many of her criticisms, but little good it did her. She couldn't do all the work herself, she couldn't get her subordinates co-operation; she simply succeeded in thoroughly antagonizing them, and soon so demoralized the department that it was necessary to let her go and to find someone who might not know so much about window trimming, but did know something about tact.

How often one sees people like this woman, who are undeniably more competent than their neighbors and who are eager to share their superior intelligence with them, but whose kindness is always ungratefully declined because of their infuriating manner of offering it.

A neighbor of mine is a capable woman of superior intelligence and endowed with a really genuine desire to help her friends by sharing what experience and native intelligence have taught her. If she had a little more tact and a little more respect for other people's opinion she might do a world of good. But as it is she simply sets people by the ears the minute she tries to help them.

She comes to me sometimes and tells me how sad she feels because Mrs. R., who is a young matron, new at the business both of motherhood and homemaking, will not profit by some of HER experience. "I am so fond of her," she says sadly, "and I really want to help her, but she seems to take pleasure in going contrary to all my advice."

As it happens Mrs. R. also sometimes confides in me, and this is her way of putting it: "She comes in here and tells me that I don't know a thing about babies, and that I make my beds wrong, and don't hold the broom right, and don't know how to run a sewing machine. Sometimes I know she is right, but she makes me so mad that I wouldn't do her way for anything on earth. So there!"

It is unfortunate to antagonize people when you want to help them, isn't it? But it is what the person who has no respect for other folks' intelligence always does.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Our Kiddies.
To make a real home for our children, we have to study them and consider their whims. Growups have their whims and fancies; there may be more reason to our wants, yet they sometimes seem very foolish to children. We all were children once. Did we ever go to bed and want to do anything that we really thought was wrong? No, never.
Children should be taught to honor and respect their parents; but that is not all. Parents should respect their children. What child has respect for a father or mother who hasn't any for it?

No slang or unkind words should be used before a child.
From the very first teach them to know you are to be obeyed, that your word is law, that you will tell them nothing that is wrong.

Take a few minutes each day to join in their play. What are a few minutes of labor lost to the thanks you will get from the little ones.

I once heard a lady say to a little girl: "Have you any sister, little girl?" "Oh, yeth—one," lisped the tot of four years.
"And how old is she?"
"Oh, she's great big. She's my mamma, too."

Let us try to make home pleasant for our babies. Wherever there is found a pleasant, cheerful, neat, attractive, inexpensive home, there you may be sure to find the abode of the domestic virtues. There will be no dissipated husband, no discontented wife, no "fast" sons or frivolous daughters.

Exercise is absolutely necessary for children. Without it, it is impossible easy and even and in about five minutes it is set. You will be surprised how nice and even it gets. We enameled our bathroom and it looks swell.

For the Toilet.

To Keep Hands Smooth and Soft—After cleansing hands, rub them thoroughly with table salt.

Home-Made Face Powder—One pound wheat starch, three ouncesorris root, 28 drops oil of lemon, 15 drops each of oil cloves and oil of bergamot. Rub thoroughly together.

The Table.

Snowball Doughnuts—One and one-half cups sugar, one cup milk, three eggs, three tablespoons baking powder, one teaspoon salt, quarter teaspoon ground nutmeg, one soup-spoon melted butter, flour enough to make soft dough. Roll half inch thick, cut with doughnut cutter, fry in smoking hot lard until nicely browned. Then roll in powdered sugar until there is none of the brown visible. They look just like a snowball and are perfectly delicious. This recipe will make three dozen doughnuts and they sell for 12 cents a dozen.

The Kitchen Cabinet

A HAZE on the far horizon. The infinite tender sky. The rich ripe tints of the cornfield. The wild geese circling high. And far over upland and lowland, The charm of the golden rod. Some of us call it autumn. And others call it—God.

CHESTNUTS ARE HERE.

There are so many delicious combinations in which the chestnut plays an important part. The nut may be used for every course in the menu, beginning with the cocktail and ending with the confection.

French Chestnut Soup.—Peel and boil a quart of large chestnuts for twenty minutes in salted water. Remove the brown skins and chop the nuts. Add a teaspoonful of salt and one of sugar, the rind of a lemon and a quart of water. Cook half an hour then rub the nuts through a sieve, add two quarts of chicken stock, or veal will do; a teaspoonful of minced parsley, a tablespoonful each of flour and butter cooked together; season with pepper and salt, simmer twenty minutes, add a beaten egg and strain again. Serve hot.

Boiled Chestnuts With Sauce.—Remove the hard shells and blanch the nuts by boiling for ten minutes, then drop them into cold water and the brown skins will rub off. Drop the blanched nuts into rapidly boiling water and cook until tender when pierced by a fork. Drain and let steam in a colander over boiling water until the sauce is made. Serve with a rich white sauce, using cream instead of milk or with a Hollandaise sauce, or with drawn butter sauce.

Chestnut Stuffing for Fowl.—For a small turkey allow a quart of chestnuts. Boil, mush and add seasoning and butter. For a large turkey allow a half of a loaf of bread additional. Onion, thyme or sage may be used for seasoning.

Marrons Glaces.—This is a favorite French confection. Blanch and boil the chestnuts until tender, then drain and spread on a shallow buttered platter, ready to have the candied sirup poured over them. Boil a pound of sugar with half a cup of water until it threads well from the spoon. Do not stir. Let it cool until only warm, then pour over the nuts and let them stand in a warm place thirty-six hours, then remove the nuts. Have ready another sirup like the first, but add a fourth of a teaspoonful of cream of tartar; boil hard for seven minutes, then drop the nuts into it. When boiling, stir and skim out the nuts and drain them. When dry they are finished.

Enameling Hint.
We had an occasion to use enamel. We found it was hard to spread; some places it was too thick and others too thin. I set the can with the enamel in a kettle of boiling water stirred it continually until the enamel was good and warm. (Keep water hot, changing often.) As the enamel gets good and warm you will notice how thin it gets. It spreads

ACIDS AND RHEUMATISM.

A reader asks if eating one pound of grapes for breakfast, early, and nothing else, will cause rheumatism, and if too many apples will cause the same trouble. Acid fruits cannot cause rheumatism, but if there be already an excess accumulation of uric acid in the system, which is the chief cause of rheumatism, if the rheumatic diathesis or temperamental predisposition is pronounced, any acid food, including buttermilk, will not be well borne, because there is already a constant irritation from the excessive acid condition. But the elemental substances contained in the acid of apples and of lemons are beneficial, especially in rheumatism, but it may for a time at least be desirable to cook the apples—which is not ordinarily advisable. Grapes are altogether sufficient for breakfast of an adult of sedentary occupation, if three meals are eaten daily.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

THE OTHER BOY

MANY a mother is puzzled by the problem of the other boy, the street boy whom her son wants to play with; who, he insists, is just as good as he is, and whom to put a ban on is simply to make more enticing.

One mother who had several boys who were continually coming to play with boys whom she did not think fit associates, finally solved the problem very satisfactorily, though her solution involved a lot of work for herself. But since her method proved so successful, she says she does not now mind the work.

She lived in a country town and had a large yard. She fixed this yard up with the various games boys enjoy. Then she told her sons they could not play on the streets with these boys, but that they might invite the boys in to play with them.

The "Gang," as the undesirable boys were called, were shy at first, but the games were alluring. And finally, they came. On rainy days, she let them come into the house for indoor games. Many a day, she made a big freezerful of ice cream for them, or she had lemonade or home-made cookies, or candy, or some tempting eatable that boys enjoy.

And it never became necessary to point out to her boys the difference between them and the members of the "Gang." Her sons had been clamoring before that these boys were just as good as they were. And no argument on her part could convince them. But the moment the "Gang" was own home, they needed no words to show the difference. Their language, their manners, all stood out vividly in their uncleanliness. It was an object lesson whose point struck home.

For without minding the matter, these were street boys of an undesirable type. And it would have been almost impossible by lecturing, even by punishment, to have kept her boys away from them; for they had the attractiveness that certain vile street boys, with their own world of games and activities, have for the boys shut off from all such things.

This mother made the one condition that when playing in her yard or house, these boys should use no profane language. And she always

The intimacy thus started was kept up until her boys, of their own accord, dropped it. But under these conditions, it did her boys no harm. And it really did these street youngsters a lot of good. It gave them a glimpse of a life different from their own. It awoke in some of them ambition. And though they are still a tough element of that town, they are not really vicious. And this they might have become if this good influence had not been thrown around them.

And, though this mother in taking the course she did was primarily defending her own boys from evil, wasn't it a finer, better way to consider the other boy than is usually adopted? We are apt to look upon this alien, who is going to corrupt our own dear little angel, as an enemy. Our one desire usually is not to help him, but to prevent him from injuring us. But by helping him, we prevent the injury we fear, and at the same time aid him to a happy and useful life. And isn't this the better way?

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

PRIVILEGE OR JUSTICE?

There was a time when women existed on feminine privilege. A good many of them try to do it now. And a good many are so situated that they must. Many a woman has been compelled to do without rights because she had privileges, and when it came to the big matters of life, she found that the privileges didn't reach out.

Today the thinking woman finds that many of her former privileges are rights, though once upon a time she thoughtfully took them as favors. Also, she has discovered that many women want privileges beside their rights and get them by hook or crook.

But the thinking woman has found that justice is giving women what they deserve more today than ever before in the world's history. Conditions are not perfect yet, but they are growing better every year and in time there will be only the privileges of love and kindness, while rights of masculine and feminine will be equal.

The divorce courts alone prove the growing justice to women. A recent case may be quoted as an example. A couple had been married some fifteen years. They had three children. The wife was kept at home caring for the house and the children. She didn't have much time to beautify herself or be overly neat. And she committed the unpardonable sin of getting fat.

Oh, the husband got fat, too. But it doesn't make so much difference in a man. He can look like a barrel and still be a heart-smasher—especially if he has some money to spend. The husband got up in the world.

Enlightened Statesmanship.

The story goes that Java was lost to the British crown through geographic ignorance. When the British were negotiating with the Dutch early in the last century, a trembling secretary pointed out to Lord Liverpool that the Dutch claimed the island of Java. "Java, where is Java? Let 'em have it," roared his lordship.

Slow Coach.

A gentleman was one day, in the old coaching times, traveling by a coach which moved at a very slow pace. "Pray," said he to the guard, "what is the name of this coach?" "The Regulator," was the reply. "And a very appropriate name, too," said the traveler, "for I see all the other coaches go by it."

A New Method of Baking Cakes

Mrs. Nevada Briggs, the baking expert, says:

"There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and evenly—give them time to rise before a crust is formed and the batter is stiffened by cooking."

"If using a gas, gasoline or oil stove, light your oven when you put the cake in and keep the flame low until the cake has doubled in bulk; then increase the heat until it is evenly browned and will respond to the pressure of the finger. If using a coal or wood range, leave the oven door open until the cake is in; then turn on the drafts and by the time the oven is at baking temperature, the cake will have raised sufficiently."

For rich, moist, feathery cakes Mrs. Briggs always recommends

KC BAKING POWDER

It is double acting and sustains the raise. You can open and close the oven door, turn the tin around in the oven or do anything else necessary, without any danger of making the cake fall.

Try your favorite cake next time with K C Baking Powder and see how much higher it will rise. Make it just as you always do, with the same quantity of baking powder. While K C is less expensive than the old fashioned baking powders, it has even greater leavening strength and it is guaranteed pure and healthful.

Growing Children Need Good Bowels

Give a Mild Laxative Occasionally to Insure Regular Bowel Action. As a child grows older it requires more and more personal attention from the mother, but as the functions of the bowels are of the utmost importance to health great attention should be paid to them.

Diet is of great importance and the mother should watch the effect of certain foods. A food will constipate one and not another, and so we have a healthy food like eggs causing biliousness to thousands, and a wholesome fruit like bananas constipating many. It is also to be considered that the child is growing, and great changes are taking place in the young man or young woman. The system has not yet settled itself to its later routine.

A very valuable remedy at this stage, and one which every growing boy and girl should be given often or occasionally according to the individual circumstances, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a laxative and tonic combined, so mild that it is given to little babies, and yet equally effective in the most robust constitution. At the first sign of a tendency to constipation give a small dose of Syrup Pepsin at night on retiring, and prompt action will follow in the morning. It not only acts on the stomach and bowels but its tonic properties build up and strengthen the system generally which is an opinion shared by the mother of Alfred Edison Spence, Reeds Springs, Mo., and Mrs. George A. Fisher, 631 Parker Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., and thousands of others.

ALFRED EDISON SPENCE.

Thousands of others.

Its use will teach you to avoid cathartics, salts and pills as they are too harsh for the majority and their effect is only temporary. Syrup Pepsin brings permanent results, and it can be conveniently obtained of any nearby druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 413 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded.

MILTON

Milton, Nov. 8.—A straw vote was taken at the high school Tuesday on the presidential and gubernatorial candidates, the eighth grade students taking part in the balloting. The result was as follows: Wilson, 49; Taft, 38; Roosevelt, 21; Chafin, 7; McGovern, 6; Karel, 41. Woman's suffrage: Yes, 92; No, 22.

ENJOY HOME COMING AT OTTER CREEK CHURCH

One Hundred Persons Attended Reunion and Recall Events of Former Days.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Koshkonong, Nov. 8.—The home coming held at Otter Creek church Saturday was well attended, about one hundred being present. A picnic dinner was served in the church. The members of the mite-society furnished chicken pie and together with the good things brought by the others a very sumptuous dinner was enjoyed. The crowd remained seated while a short program was given.

Mrs. Jessie Marquart gave a brief history of the church and its building. Sunday school being held in the school house near by previous to that time.

Rev. G. W. Lawrence of Janesville, was the first and only pastor during the years the church was used by the Universalist society.

Mrs. Marquart spoke very highly of Miss Ruth Graham, a former resident of this place, who worked so hard in the community to get the building started.

Mrs. Wesley Winch, now of Milton Junction, told how the Sunday school was started and about the first pastor, Rev. Stephen, now of Oconomowoc, under the Methodist denomination, preaching services were held every other Sunday afternoon for a few years and later every Sunday and continued.

Mrs. D. M. Barlass of Janesville, made a few remarks, telling things she remembered, connected with the church and its building.

Mrs. Addie Rood of Milton, sang several pieces. This was her first visit to this place in twenty-seven years.

A song by Alice and Bonnie Bassett and readings by Ethel Miller and Mrs. R. G. Thompson of Milton Junction. The program closed with a few remarks by the pastor, Rev. W. J. Perry, and the reading of a letter from a former pastor, Rev. C. M. Starkweather, now of New York.

Also a letter from a former resident, Mr. Alva Wentworth, now of Fort Atkinson.

The men folks then got busy at the church sheds and soon had them fixed up in good shape. Each man in the community was invited to bring a few foot posts to be used in repairing the sheds. A few posts which were left were set for hitch posts.

The following visitors were present who were former residents: Mr. and Mrs. David Goddard and son, Mrs. Henry Tucker and daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Newton of Fort Atkinson; Mrs. D. M. SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

DESSERTS.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

THE dessert is a scintillating climax to a full meal, and is always served when people are in a blasé and breathless condition. It generally consists of something which could have been used to good advantage earlier in the proceedings.

Desserts are a modern invention and were introduced mainly for the purpose of enabling grasping restaurant proprietors to raise the ante.

The dessert at a first-class restaurant will eat horses through a $5 bill and leave revengeful feelings in its wake.

Our forefathers never used dessert, except in the way of seven or eight Ben Davis apples or an occasional slice in the form of squash pie.

The most popular kinds of dessert are made of some frothy material, something on the order of a stewed lace curtain. They do not overload the stomach or cause a feeling of uneasiness to pervade the guests, as they run mostly to whipped cream or the puffed product of the egg beater.

Nobody ever became satisfied through contact with one of these desserts.

Desserts may come and go, but there is one that goes on forever. That is the apple pie and ice cream served at a $2 a day hotel. Sometimes the capricious traveling man becomes embittered with this fare and substitutes string beans for the apple pie, thus securing a unique and melodious combination. Some hotels disguise their dessert under the name of green apple pie, and thus deceive people who have never intercepted the real article.

Another favorite form of hotel dessert is a stunted watermelon, which is allowed to ripen in the freight depot and fed to guests with an adventurous disposition. Then there is the hotel canteloupe, which has to be excavated with a mining pick and causes the recipient to regret meeting it face to face.

Nuts are served as dessert at all first-class hotels. These come fully dressed and have to be subdued with a hand nutcracker, which usually lets go just in time to raise a large, pale blister on the hand of the operator and also fill the eyes of some neighbor with fragments of shell. This has caused so many casualties and so much profane speech that some hotels substitute oranges which are three-fourths seeds and one-fourth juice.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

JUST FOR GIRLS.

My dear girl:

I who write you this letter am old enough to be your father, and I write to you as if you were my daughter. And if you will carefully read what I say and ponder it well it may save you some regretful hours—or worse.

Know this:

The average man in his attitude toward girls and women is a sort of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde. He has two sides—a good and a bad side.

For instance—

A young man will spend a lot of time coaxing a girl to consent to kiss him, and think less of her when she consents.

Strange, but true.

He will encourage a girl to do things that are wrong and cowardly lose respect for her because she is weak enough to succumb.

Inconsistent?

Precisely, yet men are built that way. When you put aside your natural modesty and do things men may ask you to do—things not necessarily bad in themselves, but indiscreet—you run a risk.

With strange inconsistency the man to whom you permit some familiarity is likely to brag about it to his chums. They will laugh, and your good name may be held in light esteem.

There is, however, another side to the man.

If it be demonstrated to him not only that you are pure and modest, but also quite capable of taking care of your self, he will deeply respect you.

And—

Should your name come into discussion he will see that it is unsullied; if you should need his protection he will defend you as though he were your brother.

Every girl should know these things about men.

The girl's mother should tell her. If your mother has not explained the two sided nature of the average man I who write these words would feel myself guilty if I did not make it plain.

Do not be a prude. And do not be afraid of any man. Be honest and fearless, but draw the line.

Let a man know he may cross that line at his peril. He will not cross it, but will respect you.

Remember, my girl, men have two sides.

With the astronomer, however, things are looking up."

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, November 8, 1872.—Fatal Accident in Sharon: Last evening a fatal accident with a gun occurred near Sharon, which has cast a gloom over the whole community. James Pellington, seventeen years old, the oldest son of Mr. William Pellington, residing two and a half miles east of the village, was almost instantly killed by the discharge of a gun in his hands. With his only brother he had been out hunting for ducks. On their way home they called at a neighbor's for a newspaper and took seats on the fence till it should be brought out. While in this position, either the lad's foot or the gun itself slipped and a barrel was discharged, the contents passing through the thigh. The nature of the wound was not at first discovered. The surgeon's examination showed that the femoral artery had been severed. The wounded lad had only time to exclaim "I am shot," before he became unconscious, and in a few minutes gasped out his life. Clifford's Theater: The well-entertained audience which attended Clifford's theatre last night will go again tonight because they are convinced that they cannot spend the evening in a manner which will give them greater enjoyment than the acting of the Clifford company. The "Lancashire Lass" was excellently performed. For tonight the greatest bill of the season is presented, the occasion being Dillon's benefit, and the program being, appropriately, intensely Dillon. Dillon's original drama, entitled "Smoke," with Dillon as James Brown (an individual who dislikes smoke) will open the entertainment, to be followed by a dance by Marie Louise and a song by Dillon. The three act drama of "A home in the West, or Tuning for Congress," will close the evening's entertainment.

UNCLE WALT The Poet Philosopher

Oh, surgeon, sharpen up your saws, Keep amica in kegs, in readiness for broken jaws and dislocated legs. Take down your rusty battle ax for any putation stunts, have remedies for damaged backs and much disfigured fronts. Oh, let us grease the ambulance and make it snug inside, for now, with pomp and circumstance, the football teams collide. They have debutalized the game, so certain experts say; it's now so innocent and tame that even girls could play. And yet I notice every year
FOOTBALL that grewsome stories come of players who have had an ear or head knocked out of plumb. And some go home with broken ribs and some for life are lame, which makes me think that maybe fibs are told about the game.

Far be it from an old fat poke to kick at any sport that does not get the player's goat and put him out of court. But football, in the ages when it hadn't been refined, has killed and crippled scores of men—but all that is behind. They have it now so tempered down it's safe as blind man's bluff; no player gets a busted crown—there's nothing fierce or rough. And yet, oh Sawbones, just the same, I'd grease the ambulance, for in the sweetest, tamest game,
some accidents may chance.

LADIES' READY-TO-WEAR DEPARTMENT

In this department we have excelled all competition. This is conceded by all. Selling good merchandise for less money than others is our claim throughout the store, but in the ready-to-wear department we aim only to carry goods manufactured by the best manufacturers in the United States. In connection with the large New York manufacturers lines which we carried every season, we have added this year the famous Wooltex line. By buying goods of the most reliable manufacturers every small detail in manufacturing is looked after closely. It is not only that they use the best materials in the way of fabrics but they also look closely after every other small item. We will name a few of the many items which give our garments preference over other makes.

Carefully fitted quality linings.

Extra buttons for all coats.

Silk covered buttons.

Silk thread for all surfaces stitched.

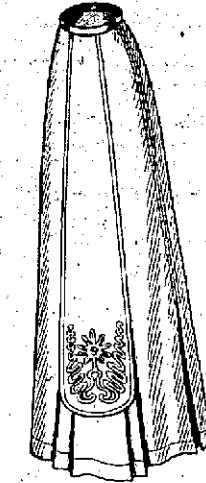

Button holes that keep their shape.

Labels that lie flat, and last but not least, the best materials are used. We aim to have all garments not only look comfortable but also be comfortable. They represent the highest coinage in the currency of ready-to-wear values. Even the plain, simple models have elegance and individuality that show at a glance authentic style, as well as goods. We buy only of firms who make a special effort to bring out new styles constantly. They always keep in close touch with Paris creators and we buy the new things as soon as they appear. This is our policy, and it is a big factor in our success. Keeping stocks fresh and interesting at all times is a big part of the progressive store's service to its trade and we are doing just that. The women who want to buy now will be glad to know that the assortment we show today are not copies of the early season's productions, but they are just as distinctive and exclusive as the early season's styles were.

FURS! FURS!

We are sole agents for the Revillon Freres furs in this section and request everyone in need of furs not to buy without first seeing this representative line in the United States. Regarding furs will say the long coat is still the favorite fur garment for general wear, and will remain so while dresses continue to be thin in texture and light in weight. The furs most used are Hudson Seal, Mole, Russian Pony and Caracul. In muffs and scarfs there are many graceful effects in the natural animal shades, finished with heads and tails.

Flat furs, Seal, Mole and Caracul, made up in the long shawl shapes, are also in high favor. Muffs show no diminution in size, and both round and flat shapes are used with a preference, perhaps for the latter. The wearer of Revillon furs can be absolutely certain of the correctness of style and genuineness and excellence of the materials. They are the largest buyers of raw skins in the world and make up the furs in their own workrooms under the most favorable conditions. Every garment is identified by the Revillon label, the guarantee of reliable furs.

RADIUM OF VALUE IN TREATING DISEASE

RADIUM A VERY EFFECTIVE WEAPON IN FIGHTING CERTAIN KINDS OF MALARIES.

FORMER MILTON MAN

Dr. E. Stillman Bailey, Graduate of Milton College, Joint Discoverer of Uses to Which Radium May Be Put by Medical Profession.

That radium, in the hands of the medical profession is a surprisingly important weapon against certain kinds of disease, has been disclosed by the results of the discoveries of two Chicago physicians, which they have recently made public. They have conducted a series of experiments and research, extending over a period of five years, and have just completed the equipment of a radium emanatorium, which they claim will effect the successful treatment of all diseases due to defective metabolism, including chiefly rheumatism and kindred maladies.

The discoverers are Dr. E. Stillman Bailey and Dr. Frank Blackmarr. Dr. Bailey is a Milton boy and a graduate of Milton college of the class of 1873. His name is familiar to many Milton people, and he is well known to a large number of them.

Dr. E. A. Beshford of London, is authority for the statement that the knife is the only cure for cancer, but Dr. Bailey and Dr. Blackmarr have advanced steps to fight the disease through the use of radium. The claim is not made that radium has been found to be a cure for all kinds of cancer. Dr. Bailey, however, offered to qualify Dr. Beshford's assertion by putting it that radium and the knife are the only cures for cancer. The physician declared further that, in certain kinds of cancer, radium alone has been found to be remedial, although he upheld, in general, the contention of the English doctor.

On the question of the use of radium in the treatment of cancer Dr. Bailey said:

"Fifteen thousand surgeons have been trying to find the cause of cancer, but up to the present time there has been found to be a cure for all cause of cancer. Hence, the treatment is largely left to the individual opinion. The knife is the most popular form of treatment. It has many advantages and is, seemingly, the best method at the present time. This general statement has to do with the larger and more malignant forms of the disease.

Small Cancers Curable.

"It is well known by these same students that the smaller cancers and those on the surface of the body, particularly of the face are being cured right along by radium and the products of radium, and particularly where radium is mixed with thorium, where thorium alone is being used. There is no question on this subject of the smaller cancers being cured.

"In our own research work, of the last five years we have had frequent occasion to demonstrate this truth. The objections to the use of the knife oftentimes are personal prejudices and the patient loses by the loss of time and the extensive invasion of the new growth.

Stops Progress of Disease.

"It has been noticed that the early use of radium inhibits the progress of these large growths and in time the patient's condition is so improved that the surgery follows as a cure. This is progress in the treatment of cancer, but the fact remains that all of these cases do not get well.

Where the Emanatorium is.

The radium emanatorium which has just been completed is in suite 711 Marshall Field building and many members of the medical profession of Chicago have been invited to make an inspection. It is said by the two physicians to be the first emanatorium to be opened in the United States and the only one of its improved type in the world. It has been fitted out, according to Dr. Bailey and Dr. Blackmarr, with all of the good points of the emanatoria of Europe, with the elimination of the proper features.

Details of the emanatorium, which also is referred to as a radium emanation inhalation room, were explained to a reporter for The Daily News by Drs. Bailey and Blackmarr, disclosing a unique and complicated electrical chemical mechanism. Omitting the medical terms and the technical details, the emanatorium is a sealed room, into which is poured a gas emanating from radium and oxygen. The room is regulated as to temperature and ventilation. All the patient has to do is to sit in the room for prescribed periods.

Some of the diseases for which the emanatorium is held to be remedial are rheumatism, neuritis, glandular engorgements, anaemia and catarrhal conditions, gastric disturbances and particularly the insomnia cases. The effect of radium emanation upon insomnia, Dr. Bailey explained, was discovered purely as the result of an accident.

These diseases are pointed out to be due to an unbalanced metabolism, which is the disturbed adjustment of the supply and waste in the human body. The theory of the emanatorium is that it produces an equilibrium of the functions that control the supply and waste.

The room is tightly sealed, with double doors, so that the patient may close one door before opening the other when entering.

Principles That Are Involved.

Principles involved are chiefly these, as explained by Dr. Bailey and Dr. Blackmarr:

Filtered oxygen is poured into the room in quantities according to the known absorption by each patient.

Carbonic acid emanated by the patient is drawn from the floor and passed through absorbent media.

Organic matter in the air is absorbed by the same process.

Ammonia is likewise absorbed. Moisture is absolutely condensed by a radiating system.

Temperature is under perfect control and in three minutes can be changed five degrees.

Thus, it is pointed out, the total amount of air in the emanatorium passes through a machine three times in five minutes.

Disseminated by Fans.

The radium emanation and the oxygen that is poured into the room are disseminated to every inch of surface in the room by a fan made of feathers and is kept from falling to the floor by a fan system which blows up and out from the floor and throws it out of the machine at about the height of the patient's head, without producing a draft.

There are two systems employed in the pouring of radium emanation into the emanatorium. In the first is used a strong solution of radium for producing radio activities of from four machine units to forty machine units a liter of air space in the emanatorium, as desired.

The second system is the production of emanations derived from the residue from uranium ores after the various uranium products have been eliminated. Radium is a disintegrating product of uranium. Disintegration being the atomic disruption of the substance, setting free a resultant product. Radium emanation is the first disintegration product of uranium.

Making the "Radium-Drink Cure."

Evolution of emanations from the uranium ores is accomplished by the constant circulation of oxygen gas through pulverized radium products in a confined space for periods varying from a few hours to one or two days, then driving the emanation from these containers, either into the emanatorium or into oxygenated water, for producing, in the latter case, water saturated with the emanation and called, in Europe, the "Radium drink cure."

"This term of course does not mean that this water has any relation to drink cure for alcoholics," Dr. Bailey explained. "This drink cure is for the same purpose as the emanatorium gas treatment, except it is used as an adjunct. Inhalation of the emanation acts more directly by being absorbed in the lungs. The ingestion—the taking in of radioactive water—acts promptly, but so effectively as the inhalation of the radioactive air. By breathing, all of the lung tissue in turn becomes radio active with the prolonged action upon the blood itself.

Red Blood Corpuscles Increase.

"Scientific tests show immediate increase in the number of the red blood corpuscles and a corresponding diminution of the white corpuscles."

Dr. Blackmarr said he expected to employ also a "bed emanatorium," a type of which he saw in Vienna. "This is for the individual who is unable to go to the office or cannot be moved from a bed in the hospital," the physician explained. "It will be in the shape of an automobile top, which can be quickly adjusted to the bed. A portable radium emanation generating system can be easily attached to the hood covering the bed and patient. According to Prof. Falla of Vienna, only 20 per cent. of the emanation is lost by using this apparatus. Pneumonia cases are treated to advantage in this style of emanatorium."

Result of Scientific Inquiry.

Relative to the room emanatorium, Dr. Bailey said:

"This room and its equipment are the result of scientific investigation, adding all the good features of the emanatoria now known and eliminating the disagreeable features with the new addition of scientific apparatus and technique to make them absolutely perfect for the comfort of the patient and for the highest degree of therapeutic efficiency. We have also added to this room color scheme devices for stimulating or sedative effects. The apparatus is all regulated in such a manner that the care of the room is absolutely automatic."

Produced from Pitchblende.

For the use in producing the "drink cure" of pitchblende ore at St. Joachimsthal, Bohemia, which is the original mine from which Mrs. Curie obtained the first radium.

"It takes one ton of this ore, ten tons of chemicals, fifty tons of water and four months of chemical labor to get, at best, a few grains of radium salt," Dr. Bailey explained. "No more of the ore may be imported from Bohemia, but a quality of equally good ore has been found to exist in large quantities in Colorado."

Poor Sticking.

Sticking to a poor purpose makes many a poor stick.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 24 and have had two chances to marry but didn't care much for either. A little over a year ago I met a very respectable young man whom I deeply loved, but of course he didn't know. Now he has deserted me and I don't know why. Was it right for me not to show him I cared for him? Should I keep company with anyone else when he was the only one I loved? S. E. C.

If he had cared for me he would have shown it; otherwise a modest girl could not show that she cares for a man.

Be friends with all the good men you know. Some day you will like one well enough to marry.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) I am a girl of 15 and I have had invitations to basket ball games, parties and theaters, with boys of my age, but my mother will not consent to my going. Am I too young? (2) I have a blazer hat and coat. Will they be in style next year? (3) Ten of us girls are going to organize a sorority. Can you suggest a suitable name? BLUE EYES.

(1) I think you are too young, my dear little girl. Mother knows best. (2) It is hard to tell. You probably will be able to wear them next spring. (3) Take the initials of your Christian names and see if you can't make one or two words out of it that will form a name for your sorority.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a girl of 20 and have been a member of the M. E. church since I was a little girl. A few months ago I met a man of 24. He is a Catholic, drinks pretty freely at times. He thinks there is no harm at all in going into a saloon to spend a few hours at cards or pool with his associates. I notice that most of his associates are men that drink and spend their evening around the saloons.

He treats me nicely and seems nice only he persists in smoking a big pipe while in my company. He wants me to marry him and wants me to be a Catholic and doesn't want me to go to the M. E. church much any more. He wants to be married by a priest, etc. He works and makes good wages but has not saved any of his money. Please advise me.

A WORTHY YOUNG LADY.

I'm afraid that you are not suited to each other at all. You have been brought up in widely different ways, with a different set of conventions and morals. Even if you became a Catholic you would not be contented, and you probably could not make home interesting enough to keep him away from his drinking and pool-playing companions.

I would think more than twice before marrying such a man and then I would follow Puck's advice: "Don't."

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I am a young man of 22 and love a young lady about 28 years old. I am not very sentimental and make no fuss over anyone, but I sincerely love and respect this girl. Her only reason for hesitating to accept me is the difference in our ages and I can't help but respect her for it. Is there too much difference between us? I will not be able to marry before another year or two as I am not in a position to do so. Please advise me.

You seem to be rather older than your years and the difference in ages, in this instance, might not be prohibitive. But as you are not in a position to marry soon, it would be better for both of you to remain quite free until you can support a wife.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—(1) Do you like a Norfolk suit on a little girl? (2) How can I make my hands and face white? (3) How should a girl of 12 wear her hair? PINK ROSE.

(1) Yes, my dear. (2) Bathe them in buttermilk once a day. Let the buttermilk stay on for a little while, then wash off. (3) In a loose braid tied with a pretty ribbon.

Wealth Derived From Tourists.

Were it not for the travel and resident foreign population attracted by religious interest, and the extensive charitable and other contributions which flow to it from all over the world, Jerusalem, with a population of 80,000, would be of very small importance commercially. Fully two-thirds of its population consists of non-producers, who are supported from abroad.

Man's Work and Woman's.

Now the man's work for his own home is, as has been said, to secure its maintenance, progress and defense; the woman's to secure its order, comfort and loveliness.

Left Him Thinking.

"That's all nonsense," said Mr. Henpeck, "about there always being room at the top." "Oh," his wife sarcastically replied, "when were you up there to see?"

Poor Pursuer of Pleasures.

"It's the only pleasure I have in life," said an English hawker, in explaining to a magistrate his love of beer.

Well, Naturally.

A man charged in an English court with disorderly conduct pleaded that, seeing a notice on a lamp post, he climbed up to read it, and the words "Wet paint" slightly annoyed him.

MOST SICKNESS COMES FROM WEAK, INACTIVE KIDNEYS

Recent Reports Show Hundreds Suffer With Kidney Troubles and Don't Know It.

There are scores of nervous, tired, run-down people throughout the city suffering with pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, weaknesses of the bladder, (frequently causing annoyance at night) who fail to realize the seriousness of their trouble until such conditions as chronic rheumatism, bladder troubles, dropsy, diabetes or even Bright's Disease result.

All this is due to weak, inactive kidneys. The kidneys are the filters of the blood, and no one can be well and healthy unless the kidneys work properly. It is even more important than that the bowels move regularly.

If you suffer with such symptoms don't neglect yourself another day and run the risk of serious complications. Secure an original package of the new discovery, Croxone, which costs but a trifle, and commence its use at once. When you have taken a few doses, you will be surprised how differently you will feel. Croxone cures the worst cases of kidney, bladder trouble, and rheumatism, because it removes the cause. Pills, tablets and other remedies merely give temporary relief at the best. Croxone cleans out the kidneys and makes them filter out all the poisonous waste matter and uric acid, that lodge in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the bladder, and quickly effects a permanent, positive, lasting cure.

You will find Croxone different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are or how long you have suffered, it is so prepared that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it.

Merchants' and Manufacturers' Week in Janesville November 11 to 15th. Out-of-town visitors are welcome to make this store your headquarters.

YOU see men everywhere who are dressed as you like to be dressed; who look as you like to see. Ten to one these men are wearing Hart Schaffner and Marx clothes. You may be wearing them yourself; in that case you're dressed and you look, and you have the air of distinction we're talking about. There's no better or more certain way to get these things than the way we offer you.

Hart Schaffner & Marx

clothes are designed by most expert style authorities; in every small detail of length; of shape of the sleeve; of the turn of a lapel; in the artistic combination of colors; the shape and size and color of buttons—the little things you may not notice—these goods are exactly right. Notice some of these fine little points about them next time you're here.

You want such clothes as these; we know you do; you're a man who cares to have his clothes right; we know you are. There's no reason why you shouldn't have and wear them. The prices needn't stand in the way, you can buy lower-priced clothes, of course, but none that are so truly economical.

The facts of the all-wool fabrics; of the perfect, thorough tailoring; of the correct style; all go to make these clothes best for you; most profitable for you. We want to have you wear these clothes for your own sake.

You'll find two very special suit and overcoat prices here during Merchants' and Manufacturers' week: Men's and Young Men's fine suits and overcoats, new weaves, patterns, colors and fabrics, at $13.50 and $15. regular $18 and $20 values.

Tried GETS-IT, The New Corn Cure, Yet?

See How Easy It Drives Away Corns.

"Gets-It Will 'Get' Every Corn You've Got!"

At last, a real does-what-it-says corn cure. Nothing like it has ever before been known.

Every man and woman who has corns, callouses, warts or bunions, ought to try "Gets-It" at once and see how unmercifully it works. Just shove your corn with a razor. You may draw blood and cause blood poisoning.

"GETS-IT" is remarkable because it never irritates or turns the true flesh sore or raw. It can't. It is as safe as water. Stockings won't stick to it. Corns pain stop. The corn or callous shrivels up, comes out. Blessed relief!

"GETS-IT" is sold at drug stores at 25 cents a bottle, or sent on receipt of price to E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

Sold in Janesville, by McCue & Buss.

Australian Rabbit Industry.
In many towns rabbit killing and freezing and preparing the skins for export is a growing asset of great value, especially during the winter season, when it enables men who have no other occupation to make a good living and spend considerable money at the country stores.

roughly jerked to his feet, between them he walked to the door; heard it close; stepped out into the night. Many times had he made his way between wheel-room and guard-house, but now the route seemed strange, and, looking around near the structures at the entrance to his dungeons Jacques shook his head as if to rid his brain of some fantasy. But the scene did not change; the guard-house remained familiar; unlike, with unknown faces peering from it, and an imperious voice issuing commands to him, once unquestioned commander here!

And comprehending what was being said, he struck his breast violently, with curses, would have answered that the keys were his own; the dungeons, too, and what they held, and that he would never lead them there; never open these doors! But this grim, say, age, determined band beat down his arms, and his courage; and, with the shadow of the grave ahead before him, the dwarf walked on; past the stable into the guard-house, where familiar forms once had been seated, and into the passage leading to the dungeons beyond.

CHAPTER XXIII.

At the Verge of the Aperture.

The footfall of the Black Seigneur, near the guard-house of the dungeons, was measured, yet noiseless, as he stepped on the soft earth, alongside the stone wall, now toward the passage in the direction of the wheel-room, then back into the little square. That his thoughts, however, moved not in accord with that deliberate stride, the brows impatiently knit, and the quick glances he continued to cast over his shoulder, bore testimony.

Stopping at length near the Tour Bernard, he looked fixedly down at the town, wrapped in a stillness that should have reassured him. Nevertheless he appeared not satisfied; and had stepped out into the court again, when some sound he heard, or fancied, sent him quickly to an embrasure in the wall. From this opening—formerly for cannon in defense of the fens, and the poulain, or planking for the hoisting of goods—he leaned far out, his glance instinctively turning toward the barracks, some distance to the right and far below. As he stood thus, that which had first attracted his attention—the sound of a voice giving orders—was repeated; at the same time, where had been only darkness now shone many windows, white to the left, near the entrance he had passed after leaving the stable, lights began to dance like fireflies.

At these signs of activity and the sounds breaking the general quietude, an exclamation fell from his lips; then, pausing only a moment to listen and observe, he sprang toward the guard-house. Crossing the threshold, defined by a faint glimmer from a distant corner, he made his way past several motionless forms, into a low passage beyond. Here he called out impatiently, but from those depths, lead-ready had the prisoners, the weaker of the Black Seigneur's men, filled the car, or hung clinging to the rope above; already was the wheel turning—almost before the key had turned in the lock at the entrance.

"Seigneur!"

"Sanchez?"

"When we left the wheel-room, we closed the door."

"When we got back, it—"

A footfall without interrupted, followed by the sound of a hand at the door and other steps drawing near.

"Jacques!" An expectant voice spoke; waited; called louder. Then those outside listened; some one exclaimed, and hurried footsteps retreated toward the guard-house.

As they died away, in the wheel-room the car came up for the second time empty, and inquiringly the men there looked from one to the other; but, even in that moment of danger, not one of them moved, or made sign of impatience. Some must go; others remain, and stoically they awaited the word of their leader.

"Down with all of you! I'll let you out the line," taking a turn with the rope around a stanchion near the wall, "and then come down myself."

The command was unexpected; for the first time those that had never questioned their leader's authority, hesitated, and more sharply was the order repeated; whereupon they obeyed; all save one.

"I'll let it out myself," said Sanchez.

"Get in!"

"No!" was the obdurate reply, when the Black Seigneur made a sign; hands reached up, seized Sanchez, and a moment later the car started down.

The line strained, as it played out, now running free about the stanchion, then stopping with jerks, the man in the wheel-house almost looked to see it part. The hempen strand, however, proved sound; held its human freight; but another danger pressed near.

Scarcely had the car begun its downward journey than an attack, indications of whose approach had not been wanting, manifested itself without. Beneath a sudden, savage assault, the door shook; yet engrossed at the line, every muscle strained, the man at the stanchion heeded not. Swiftly, mechanically he worked, apparently as unconscious of the clamorous soldiers without as of a silent presence within—some one that had been concealed in the little store-room adjoining, opening into the wheel-house, and now peered out; but at once drew back, as, with a crash, the door fell in.

At first, in the comparative darkness, with only the sky at the aperture staring them in the face, the in-rushing black figures paused, uncertain; lights soon were pushed forward, however, and then could they see the great wheel going round, unwinding the rope; the man at the stanchion.

"The prisoners! He's letting them down."

"Cut the line!"

Some one with a knife rushed forward, severed the strand; but at that moment the car touched the bottom. Then did the solitary man at the rope for the first time awaken to his own situation; with a backward sweep of the arm he struck so fiercely the foremost of those to rush at him that the fellow fell, hitting hard the stone floor. Those nearest stumbled, and drawing his sword, with a thrust of point or blow of hilt, the Black Seigneur, for a moment withstood the first confused oncoming; then extricated himself and leaped to the narrow space behind.

"All the prisoners are here?"

"All!"

"To the wheel-house, then!"

But as they hastened across the square and into the narrow way, the Black Seigneur again spoke to the men just ahead:

"The hunchback?"

"We left him below, locked up in the Devil's Cage!"

"The Devil's Cage! Quelle bonne plaisanterie! Although," looking back, "it may cost us dear!"

And indeed, behind the sound of pursuit came nearer; the clatter of soldiers' feet grew louder, until, reaching the little square and the guard-house, all tumult suddenly ceased. A momentary silence, strange, ominous, was broken by a din of voices, as the flaring here and there of torches threw grotesque reflections high against the grim background of black masonry.

To those now within the wheel-room, the cause of that abrupt clamor was not difficult to divine; his Excellency's soldiers had found the sentinels overpowered in the guard-house! Would the former stop to investigate? search first those subterranean passages? Already had the prisoners, the weaker of the Black Seigneur's men, filled the car, or hung clinging to the rope above; already was the wheel turning—almost before the key had turned in the lock at the entrance.

Why Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis Drives People to the Limit of Endurance

There is the present pain, like corkscrews twisting in your flesh—but enough! It is true—but the horrible certainty of the next paroxysm of pain is what drives you beside yourself.

You may have been told that doctors do not understand rheumatism—that nothing will cure you.

We want to announce to the people of this city that Kurito, a new and most successful remedy for rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis, marks a revolution in the treatment of the disease.

It is an ethically prepared powder, already firmly established as an antidote for uric acid, poison, and is entirely free from narcotics and opiates. It positively stops rheumatic pains and permanently relieves ninety-nine cases in a hundred.

Call at your druggist—discuss the matter with him and he will show you bona fide testimonials from people who suffered for years. Or a letter can help you with the first $1 or $2 box. Magistral Chem. Co., Flatiron Building, New York. For sale by one wheel. Here was he protected behind by the wall; at one end, by the masonry jutting out, while, at the other, only one or two could attack at the same time. But in front, through the spokes of the broad wheel, they might well hope to reach him.

At once the soldiers sprang forward, when, seizing the wheel, the man behind, with a savage jerk, set it in motion. The swords thrust at him were turned aside, one or two of his assailants were caught in the ponderous mechanism, and before those attacking him had recovered from their surprise, the blade of the Black Seigneur shot in and out; to the right, to the left. Those ahead fell back upon their comrades; two, however, were unable to withdraw, and sank to the ground before the wheel. A third, with his hand to his throat and making strange sounds, staggered back to the wall.

Momentarily disconcerted, the others hesitated. "In the fiend's name, fear ye one man?" shouted an authoritative voice.

"A devil!"

"Tis the Black Seigneur! I had a good sight of him."

"Beat! beat! Mid marsh-muck and mire—" came in mocking tones from behind the wheel.

"The mountebank!"

"Sacre tonnerre! But mountebank, or outlaw, you shall pay! This way!" And at the unprotected side of the wheel the commandant sought to bring the issue to a conclusion. One blade the Black Seigneur struck down, while his own weapon retorted with another effort, though as it did so, an other soldier made a lunge, and his sword entered the shoulder of the man behind the wheel. A shout of triumph that fell from the lips of the Governor's trooper was, however, abruptly checked; lurching forward with the stroke, ere he could recover, something heavy—a brass hilt—beat like a hammer on his head and he dropped to his knees. The others pressed closer; but with the desperation of a man resolved to sell his life dearly, the Black Seigneur fought on; regardless of cut and thrust, was holding the narrow entrance, when from the rear, somewhere, came the report of a firearm.

"It Was Recommended To Me By My Doctor"

The Reason Why So Many People Take Father John's Medicine

When Mrs. C. H. Dunkel, of 33 Linden street, Reading, Pa., was asked why she took Father John's Medicine for her cough, she replied "it was recommended by my doctor." The same question was asked and a similar answer returned by the following: Mrs. A. L. Dixon, 30 Larkin street, Bangor, Me.; Henry P. Villet, 25 Crown street, Bangor, Me.; Frank Poff, Hallow, Pa.; Miss Catherine Boyle, 45 Blackburn street, Fairhaven, Mass.; Charles L. Brown, Irving, Ill., as well as a great many others.

Physicians, hospitals and other institutions all over the world endorse the merits of Father John's Medicine because they know of its history and curative power.

It cures colds, coughs and throat and lung troubles in the natural way by driving the impurities out of the body and at the same time its pure food elements make flesh and strength for those who are weak and run down. Not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription, free from alcohol and poisonous drugs in any form. Get a bottle today.

If you have any difficulty in getting Father John's Medicine from your druggist write to Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for a large bottle by express prepaid.

"Murder" Among Animals.

Murder is not uncommon among animals, "murder" in this sense being applied to that kind of killing that has nothing to do with the struggle for existence, but which arises from malice, pure and simple, or from downright passion. Storks, it seems, frequently kill members of the flock which, at the time of migration, either refuse to follow them or are unable to do so.

No Wife for Him.

A Good Salesman.

"Well, Jingle," said the manager, "did you make the sale?" "Yes," said the salesman. "I couldn't get the darned old machine to run over half speed; but I arranged with one of the town constables to arrest us for exceeding the speed limit, and old Skeezicks fell for it right away."

Angels on a Needle's Point.

This was a favorite topic of debate among the scholastics and doctors of the Christian church from the earliest time. It was particularly to the fore during the period of futile and quibbling argument which marked the decline of scholasticism, say from 1300 to 1450 A. D.

BAD BREATH

It's Your Duty to Get at the Cause and Remove It. A Word to the Wise, You Know.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, oil the bowels and positively do the work.

People afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pleasant sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know them.

Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system of impurities.

They do all that dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects.

All the benefits of nasty, sickening, gripping cathartics are derived from Olive Tablets without gripping, pain or disagreeable effects of any kind.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after seventeen years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Take one every night for a week and note the effect.

"Every little Olive Tablet has a movement all its own." 10c and 25c per box.
